7 Die, Many Hurt

Two School Roofs Are Collapsed

By United Press International

Tornadoes and death-dealing winds Monday collapsed the roofs of two school buildings, unroofed factories and a supermarket, ravaged an Air Force Base and carved a broad, skip-and-hit trail of destruction across 5 Midwestern states.

Seven persons were killed and at least 113 others injured in the vicious onslaught of winds. At least 40 persons were treated for injuries in South Bend, Ind., alone.

The National Guard was called out at hard-hit Three Rivers, Mich., a town of about 7,000 persons, where one house out of every two was damaged and power and most telephone service was wiped out.

Two of the victims were killed when a twisted sent an advertising pylon toppling through the roof of a supermarket at Rantoul, Ill. A 12-year-old schoolboy died in the tumbling roof debris of the McLenard elementary school at Springfield, Ill., and a workman was killed when a chimney toppled at a stone company works near Pontiac, Ill.

LIST OF DEAD

By United Press International

Dead in the tornadoes and violent winds Monday were:

1. Gary Keller, 12, Springfield, Ill.
2. Mrs. Flora Wagner, Rantoul, Ill.
3. Lawrence Walker, Danville, Ill. (at Rantoul).
4. Donald Bonham, 26, Pontiac, Ill.
5. Helene Hiatt, 68, Chapman Hotel, Pontiac, Mich.
6. Marshall Emberton, 26, Frankfort, Ind.
7. Willard Martindale, 46, South Bend, Ind.

at Pontiac, Mich., when gale-force winds caved in part of the roof of an old 3-story hotel in the heart of the city.

A young stone mason suffered fatal skull fractures when a section of concrete grain elevator overturned on him during the storm at Frankfort, Ind. At South Bend, a man was hit by a car and injured fatally as he ran to shelter from the winds and a driving rain.

Winds up to 92 miles an hour damaged 15 buildings—including a new missile training building—and 3 airplanes at Chanute Air Force Base near Rantoul.

Illinois State Police reported 35 to 40 persons injured in the Rantoul area. They included 6 caught in the collapse of the supermarket roof. Most of the others were military and civilian personnel on the Air Force Base or inhabitants of nearby trailer camps.

School Pounded

A teacher and two students suffered injuries at Sheldon, Ill., when a section of a school building roof caved in under the weight of a toppled chimney.

Heavy winds lashed South Bend and Logansport, Ind., blowing down trees, wrecking cars and ripping off roofs.

In Three Rivers, Mich., more than 200 trees were uprooted, hundreds of windows shattered, scores of roofs blown off.

More than 25 persons were injured in Michigan, mostly by flying glass and falling tree limbs. At least 11 persons were treated by doctors and hospitals.

U.S. Denies Having A-Arms In Japan

Washington (AP)—The State Department denied emphatically Monday that the United States has nuclear weapons in Japan. And it added there are no consultations underway which would permit the introduction of such weapons.

Press officer Francis W. Tully said the State Department has not received any official reports on a statement attributed to Gen. Emmett O'Donnell, commander of U.S. Air Forces in the Pacific, which was interpreted as meaning American nuclear-armed planes are stationed in Japan, Okinawa, South Korea and the Philippines.

"However," Tully said, "let me say that there are no nuclear weapons in Japan."

General Policy

It is general U.S. policy not to comment on the location of any of its nuclear armed aircraft, or the bases where they may be stationed.

But State Department officials pointed out that in the case of Japan there was an exchange of notes accompanying the signing of the 1960 treaty of mutual co-operation and security.

In that exchange, the two countries agreed major changes in the deployment into Japan of U.S. armed forces or major changes in their equipment would be subject to prior consultation.

Major Change

The introduction of nuclear weapons into Japan would constitute a major change of equipment and would be subject to prior consultations, State Department authorities said. They added that no such consultations have taken place.

It was learned that the Defense Department is asking O'Donnell for clarification of his remarks made at a news conference in Canberra, Australia.

O'Donnell was quoted as saying: "The U.S. Pacific Air Force is nuclear armed and has bases throughout the Pacific including Japan, Korea, Okinawa and the Philippines."

Elgart's Pay Attached For Attorney's Claims

Des Moines (AP)—Payment of $1,250 to band leader Les Elgart, whose band played at the Drake Relays Dance Saturday night, has been held up because of a Polk County District Court writ.

A $6,508 writ of attachment was issued after a suit was filed on behalf of Dale E. Fahrbruch, Lincoln, Neb., attorney, against Elgart for unpaid services and expenses.

The suit said that Fahrbruch defended Elgart on a charge of possessing marijuana last Nov. 4 while the band was in Lincoln to play for a University of Nebraska dance.

Case Dismissed

The case was dismissed after Lancaster District Judge Paul White ruled that evidence, consisting of marijuana, was taken illegally from

Seaton 'Has The Facts' About Morrison Fund

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Columbus—Republican gubernatorial candidate Fred Seaton Monday told newsmen he possesses facts "to support our charge that employees of the state—both Republicans and Democrats—have contributed to the Morrison campaign fund."

Seaton's statement came in reply to a request from Morrison that Seaton document his allegation in a personal confrontation at the governor's office.

The Republican candidate had earlier charged that Statehouse employees are being "solicited and coerced" into donating money to Morrison's campaign for re-election.

Morrison Denies

The governor retorted that no solicitation would be allowed, and that such an occurrence would be contrary to his established policy.

—'SET STATE BACK DECADE'—

Sandstedt Decries Frontier Air Cuts

The recommendation of a Civil Aeronautics Board examiner that Frontier Airlines be permitted to drop service to 8 Nebraska cities "would throw state air carrier progress back 10 years," according to James Sandstedt, state aeronautics director.

He declared that the development will be discussed with the department's attorneys and will probably be appealed.

"We must work fast. If an appeal isn't filed within 10 days, the examiner's recommendation will become final," Sandstedt explained.

News of Examiner Barron Fredricks' decision came from Washington as Hi-Plains Airways was making a show of financial backing to enable it to provide air service to 3 Nebraska cities on a north-south route.

Late Monday Hi-Plains asked the State Railway Commission for a 120-day extension in which to offer north-south air service in Nebraska.

Hi-Plains Delays

Edward F. Carter Jr., attorney for airline, said 3 aircraft are still needed before service can be started. He reported the airlines will be able to start operations no later than Aug. 1.

Hi-Plains has already been given one extension of time in which to serve the route. That 60-day extension was given March 1 and expired Monday.

After the Washington development, Carter said Hi-Plains is interested in acquiring authority in Nebraska and noted that some of the cities slated to lose service are among those his firm would gladly serve.

On file with the commission is an application by Hi-Plains to serve an east-west route across the state between Denver and Omaha. Slated Nebraska stops are at Columbus, Norfolk, O'Neill, Ainsworth, Valentine, Gordon, Chadron, Alliance, Scottsbluff and Sidney.

Cities which would lose Frontier service if the CAB examiner's recommendation goes through are Alliance, Beatrice, Chadron, Hastings, Imperial, Kearney, Sidney and McCook.

Sandstedt said the recommendation—if it becomes effective—would leave only 6 Nebraska cities with air service, fewer than it had when the CAB's "use it or lose it" plan for air service went into effect in 1919.

At that time, the air director pointed out, Chadron and Alliance were receiving service from Western Air Lines but Frontier later took them over.

Remaining On Routes

Cities remaining would be Omaha, Lincoln, Grand Island, North Platte and Scottsbluff, which are on Frontier's central route, and Columbus, which is slated for service.

Columbus was supposed to be served on Frontier's northern route but never was. Frontier has since dropped the northern route and the area is without service although it is under a recent Railway Commission order to resume flights on the segment.

The Nebraska cities Hi-Plains wants to serve on a north-south route between Bismarck, N.D., and Wichita, Kan., are Valentine, North Platte and McCook.

However, Hi-Plains has formally asked the commission not to take any action on its application until the Frontier situation has been resolved.

Asked about the possibility of Hi-Plains taking over if Frontier is allowed to drop the 8 cities, Sandstedt said: "We'd like to get some type of service."

But, he added that all efforts would be made to retain the route. He said Nebraska's congressional delegation has been advised of the situation.

City Council Bows On Service Zoning

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The City Council moved to drop hotels and motels and probably restaurants from the proposed "highway service zoning district" ordinance following public hearing Monday.

As proposed for amendment by the council, the "highway service district" would permit only service stations and repair garages and "limited use" restaurants.

Highway service districts are proposed to serve Interstate Highway traffic and would be located near the Interstate interchanges near Lincoln.

Both the Lincoln Restaurant Association and the Lincoln Motel Association opposed the highway service district ordinance as proposed by the City-County Planning Commission.

Richard Lutz, president of the restaurant association, said the organization opposed restaurants being located in the new district, but would recommend service stations be permitted to have food vending machines.

Atty. Lloyd Marti said the

Both Lutz and Marti said that if Interstate travelers and tourists were able to get food and lodging near the highway, none would come into Lincoln.

"Let's have the Interstate travelers see Lincoln's outstanding sights," he said, citing the state capital, Morrill Hall, Nebraska Center, planetarium, Pioneer Park, Children's Zoo, air base and municipal auditorium.

Atty. C. M. Pierson, representing a zoning applicant, suggested: "If travelers are willing to drive into Lincoln for food and lodging, they will. But if they want a motel near the Interstate, and Lincoln doesn't provide it, they will drive to Milford."

Planning Director Douglas Brogren was requested to have an amended ordinance ready for council action next Monday.

X15 Rockets 48 Mi. Into Space For Record

ORBITING WOULD BE EASY

...Pilot Walker Says

Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. (AP) — Crack research Pilot Joe Walker rocketed the X15 a record 48 miles into space Monday, then said:

"I had a feeling that if I ran the engine much longer I was going to be in orbit."

He added: "I could take orbit with no strain at all. The success of today's Joe Walker flight means there is no question that we can put a winged vehicle in orbit and land it as I did."

Walker, putting the X15 into its steepest climb yet, streaked to about 255,000 feet, 5,000 higher than the rocket plane's designed maximum altitude and 38,000 higher than the old X15 mark of 217,000.

The 41-year-old National Space Agency pilot said only an extreme effort to shut off his engine kept him from going even higher.

His 3,443-mile-an-hour speed and 38-degree climb angle shoved him back into his seat with 4 times the force of gravity, and: "I had a little trouble reaching the throttle. I kept missing it by about an inch. Finally, I had to lunge forward to reach it."

May Climb 75 Miles

In future flights, with the engine running longer and with the plane climbing at a shallower angle, the X15 is expected to climb 75 miles, perhaps higher.

Walker managed to cut off the 57,000 pound thrust engine after 81 seconds of burning time. Another two or 3 seconds might have sent him as high as 300,000 feet.

About the possibility of putting a winged craft into orbit, he told a news conference:

"The X15 could not go into orbit itself with major modifications, but 'the concept is practical. All we have to do is build the plane.'"

Such a plane, the missile-boosted Dynasor space glider, already is under construction.

10 Previous Flights

Walker, veteran of 10 previous X15 flights, conducted successfully a series of tests that were the real purpose of the flight. Wielding a small lever with his right hand, he loosed tiny jets of peroxide steam from nose and wings, controlling the plane at the peak of its arc so it would be in position for the dive. Conventional controls are not effective in the nearly airless edge of space.

Walker said his re-entry into the atmosphere Monday showed the way future spacecraft can return safely to earth under pilot control.

Nosing over at the top of his 38-degree climb, Walker dived down at a speed of more than 3,000 m.p.h. — 5 times that of sound.

He pulled the nose up and did a "belly-buster" plunge into the thickening atmosphere. This slammed him back in his seat with a force 5 times that of gravity and he grunted over the air to ground radio network:

"I sure felt that one."

Skillful Handling

Air friction on re-entry into the atmosphere is one of the dangers of space flight. So well did Walker handle his stubby-winged craft that skin temperatures rose only to 1,000 degrees. The X15's black-painted heat resistant steel skin is designed to withstand more than 1,400 degrees.

Walker said he could see from California's Monterey Bay to the Gulf of California while "going over the hump." For almost two minutes, he was completely weightless as his momentum overcame the normal pull of gravity.

It was a "very pleasant sensation," he said. "You're rid of that fellow (gravity) with his foot on your chest."

Walker began his historic flight by dropping away from the wing of a B52 bomber at a height of 45,000 feet from 200 miles north of here over Mud Lake, Nev. He landed at this desert test center 10 minutes later.

Mid-East Nations Ask Aid

...To Build Up Defenses

London (AP) — Three Middle East nations Monday called for greater American and British aid to build up their defenses and economies against communist pressure.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home tried to soothe the evidently ruffled feelings of their Pakistani, Iranian and Turkish friends at a meeting of the Council of Ministers of the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO).

The ministers agreed broadly to maintain their guard against the possibilities of communist threats and thrusts despite some signs of an East-West relaxation of tension. Rusk attended as an observer since the United States is not a full member of the anti-communist Alliance.

Closed Session

In a closed session the ministers of Pakistan, Iran and Turkey expressed their points in military and economic terms, conference sources said.

Pakistan's defense minister, Gen. K. M. Sheikh, pressed for the appointment of an American 4-star general as commander of the CENTO military planning staff, an old Pakistan demand.

He was backed by the Iranians and the Turks. This is intended to tie the Americans more closely to CENTO.

The issue was not discussed in the council meeting itself. Rusk and Home took it up on the sidelines with Sheikh and, a qualified informant said, some sort of compromise was reached. Its nature was undisclosed. Sheikh, however, was reported satisfied presumably because he got at least some of the assurances he had been seeking.

Ask About Priorities

The 3 regional members during the session queried Rusk and Home about economic aid. They wanted to know how the Americans and British arranged their priorities in handing out economic aid.

Clearly none of the 3 was completely happy about the amount of aid his nation was receiving and wondered why such neutralist countries as the United Arab Republic should qualify for a heavy helping of U.S. assistance.

Oklahoma City (AP) — Oklahoma voters will choose nominees Tuesday for state and federal offices from 514 candidates.

Interest on primary election eve concentrated on the Democratic race for governor. A dozen names are on the ballot for that office, but 3 were withdrawn voluntarily.

Gauhati, India (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador John Kenneth Galbraith Monday ended a historic two-day visit to the tiny kingdom of Bhutan wedged between communist-dominated Tibet and India. ## EICHMANN VISITED BY HIS WIFE

Tel Aviv, Israel (UPI) — Mrs. Vera Eichmann paid a secret visit to her condemned husband Adolf Eichmann Sunday night and left for Europe early Monday with a tearful "Auf Wiedersehen."

Israeli authorities disclosed the visit only after she had left for Europe still convinced of the innocence of the former SS lieutenant colonel who has been sentenced to hang for his part in the murder of 6 million Jews.

'BALANCED WILDNESS'

That's the title of this hairdo, worn by Mrs. Joan Cochran of Columbia, S.C., which won a fantasy hairdo contest held in Charlotte, N.C., Monday. It took 3 hours to wave her hair, tint it blue and speckle it with silver; only 15 minutes to wash it out with bleach and alcohol.

High Court To Finish Session With Only 8 Justices Sitting

Washington (UPI) — The Supreme Court will finish up the remaining weeks of its current session with only 8 justices sitting, it was announced Monday.

The illness of Justice Felix Frankfurter will prevent his return to the bench until next October. Frankfurter's hospitalization coupled with the fact that Justice Byron R. White is a new member means in actuality that the remainder of the court's decisions this term will be made by 7 justices.

The court is expected to wind up its work in mid-June, then adjourn until the next term which begins on the first Monday in October. In recent weeks, the court has been marking time on its decisions on the chance that Frankfurter might return. But a medical report issued by the court Monday said that the 79-year-old justice has been advised not to try resuming his duties this term. He has been in a hospital here since being stricken with a mild stroke-like seizure while working in his chambers.

With neither Frankfurter nor White participating, the court today took these actions:

—Refused to speed up its formal order that the Michigan Supreme Court re-examine a claim that the State Senate is unfairly apportioned. The court directed the re-examination last Monday. Customarily about 35 days elapse before the lower courts get such directives.

—Decided that rent paid by a patient sent to Florida under doctor's orders for medical reasons during the winter months is not deductible on his income tax return. This reversed an Appeals Court decision which had allowed a Newark, N.J., attorney, now deceased, to claim a deduction of $2,325 for such rent payments on his 1954 and 1955 returns. Turned down without comment an appeal by Mickey Cohen, Los Angeles racketeer, who claimed he was convicted twice of income tax evasion for the same offense.

Wind Halts Balloonists Record Bid

Brawley, Calif. (AP) — A balloon with 3 men who hoped to set a world distance endurance record was forced down late Monday in Mexico.

The balloon left Brawley, Calif., Monday morning, with its destination the North or South Carolina coast in about 4 days. The federal aviation agency reported Monday afternoon that the balloon was forced to land about 55 miles south-southeast of Mexicali because strong winds were carrying it far off its course.

The FAA said it overheard a conversation between occupants of the balloon and the pilot of a chase plane, saying the landing was a safe one.

The chase plane is returning to Yuma to check weather conditions so the crew can determine whether the balloon should take off again.

The crew hoped to make the first nonstop crossing of the United States by balloon. They also hoped to:

Top a balloon distance record that has stood for 48 years—1,896.85 miles, set Feb. 8, 1914, by a German team in Europe.

Exceed the balloon endurance record of 87 hours, set in 1913, also by a German team.

Titov Is Placid To Boos

... At Stock Exchange

New York (UPI) — Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov, who braved space in a 17-orbit flight around the earth, Monday invaded a famed center of capitalism — Wall Street and the Stock Exchange — and learned about the Bronx Cheer.

Titov and a party of Russians were taken to a visitors gallery above the huge Stock Exchange floor to view the activities of the 2,300 traders on the floor.

When the traders spotted Titov, who was jammed against the railing by a mob of photographers, reporters and television cameramen, they sent up a cheer. This was followed, however, by boos, catcalls and Bronx Cheers.

Smiles Gamely

Titov smiled gamely, however, and was cheered again when he left the exchange. A spokesman for the exchange said there was no interruption in trading because of the commotion.

In a sidewalk interview later after a motor tour of Manhattan, when Titov was asked to give his impression of the trading activity, he replied: "In a space capsule, everything is clear, here (in the exchange) nothing is clear."

Of the city itself, Titov said: "it is very difficult for me to tell you my impressions of New York. We were riding in a car and the first thing I want to say is there are too many cars here in New York."

He refused to comment on the boos and catcalls he received during his Stock Exchange tour.

"I am not interested in that particular question," he replied when asked to comment.

Scooter Rider Hits Boy, 12, Leaves Scene

Police were searching Monday night for a youth on a motorscooter who struck a 12-year-old Lincoln boy on Leighton between 66th and 67th and left the scene.

Officers said Gregory D. York, 12, of 6111 Colby, was treated by a local physician for a skinned knee and a sprained wrist and released.

Gregory told police he was crossing Leighton with 4 other boys when he saw the motorscooter coming from the east on the wrong side of the street. He said he saw the scooter go to the north lane and thought he would be clear of it when he was struck.

Witnesses told police the boy on the scooter stopped to help Gregory up, then departed without leaving his name or inquiring as to Gregory's injuries.

Jail Inmate Recovers After Swallowing Pills

A Lincoln city jail inmate who, police said, swallowed an undetermined number of pain pills and slashed his arm with the glass pill bottle was reported in good condition at Lincoln General Hospital early Tuesday.

Police identified the jail inmate as Stanley Muggy, 36, of 2217 A. He was treated for cuts on his left arm and had his stomach pumped. He had been jailed for intoxication, police said.

Highway Commission Studies K Street Plan

The State Highway Advisory Commission Monday agreed to study a request from Lincoln that the proposed K Street viaduct be placed on the state highway system.

Lincoln Mayor Pat Boyles led a delegation of city officials, business and civic leaders who told the commission the Capital City faces an "intolerable" traffic situation in its downtown area without the proposed by-pass project.

Under the proposal, east-bound K and west-bound L would extend westward from 9th and converge into a 4-lane divided highway on K at 6th. This highway would continue westerly and northwesterly, crossing 1st at L, and finally making a junction with U.S. 6 where it enters O from the north near 1st.

The entire project covers one mile, and will include a bridge over Salt Creek and a 3,000-foot viaduct structure over railroad tracks west of 9th.

Over $4½-Million
A "realistic" estimate of the project's cost is $4,550,000, including $3,450,000 for the viaduct section, $400,000 for the Salt Creek bridge, and $700,000 for the other segment of the project.

The by-pass is intended to ease congestion on 9th and 10th and O across which now is channeled traffic from U.S. Highways 77, 6 and 34, and Nebraska Highway 2, and into which traffic soon will be funneled from the city's Interstate access route.

Former Gov. Victor Anderson told the commission the problem facing Lincoln is not one generated within the city, but comes from the volume of outside traffic coming to the Capital City and therefore represents a statewide problem.

He estimated that Lincoln citizens would account for only 10 to 15% of the traffic over the proposed viaduct.

'Just Recommend'
"All we are asking is that you recommend that this project be placed on the state highway system and then we'll carry the matter to the federal government in an attempt to get it on the federal system," Anderson said.

Commissioner Joe Votava of Omaha expressed sympathy for Lincoln's plight and said he saw no reason why state gas tax funds should not be used to build state highways through cities.

Several commissioners indicated, however, they wanted to give the matter a thorough study stating they wanted to determine how many similar requests might come from other urban areas of the state if they dropped their ban on using such funds for city streets.

9 Nervous Congressmen Face 'Bama Countdown

Birmingham, Ala. (P)—Nine nervous Alabama congressmen approached the first countdown Monday in a two-stage election which ultimately will retire one of them to private life.

In a Democratic primary Tuesday and a low-man-out runoff May 29, the voters will decide which house member must give up his seat when the state's delegation is reduced from 9 to 8.

Alabama is losing one Congressman because of the 1960 census, and the legislature, unable to agree on a redistricting bill, left it up to the people to settle.

All 9 incumbents — 6 of them without opposition — are running for renomination within their present districts Tuesday. The 9 district winners will square away then in a statewide runoff 4 weeks later, with the low man eliminated.

The 8 survivors will be the party nominees in the November election in a state where no Republican has been elected to any but local office since reconstruction days following the Civil War.

Reps. George Andrews in the 3rd district, Kenneth Roberts in the 4th, Albert Rains in the 5th, Armistead Selden in the 6th, Carl Elliott in the 7th and Robert E. Jones in the 8th automatically won district renomination when no one qualified against them for Tuesday's primary.

That put them into the May 29 runoff for sure and set them free to begin their statewide campaign ahead of the less fortunate Congressmen who drew opposition within their districts — Reps. Frank Boykin in the 1st, George Grant in the 2nd and George Huddleston in the populous 9th (Birmingham and the rest of Jefferson County).

PINE LAKERS AGREE TO PAY FOR FIRE PACT

A pay-as-you-go fire protection proposal received approval Monday night from the Pine Lake Assn.

Thus, the group agreed to pay the city for fire runs to its area southeast of Lincoln between 70th and 80th streets.

Nearly 160 acres will receive protection under the proposal.

Fire Chief Roscoe Benton said that tentative city approval has been given the plan which required 100% participation by the Pine Lake residents.

Dual Dazzler Causes Double Take

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Crete — A couple of Nebraska couples are causing Denverites to do many a double take these days, just as they did until recently in this community.

Just seeing the Chase twins — or is it twines — is enough of a curiosity. But discovering that Herbert and Delbert, 32, and wives Jean and Jane, 23, all live together is a dual dazzler indeed.

Saline County friends and relatives recall that the look-alike quartet shared their livelihoods here in the same way that prompted a Denver Post front-page feature. Everything from tooth paste to house titles to pay checks is included.

"Any one of the 4 may write a check without countersigning from the others," the article stated. "Both cars are listed in all 4 names, and they drive whichever one is convenient."

A like pattern had been followed in their Crete home until they left for Colorado last summer, and before that on their farm near Friend. A double wedding — and a double honeymoon — had come 8 years ago.

"As soon as they were married, everything they owned went into all 4 names," recalled the Chase boys' sister, Mrs. Leon Henke of Friend.

Their mother, Mrs. Fern Chase, also lives in Friend, as well as several of the young men's 6 sisters and 4 brothers. The twin sisters are the only children of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Sweet, formerly of Crete but now also Coloradoans.

Mrs. Sweet also lives with the foursome in Thornton, a Denver suburb. Herbert and Delbert have been inseparable, whether with the Third Division in Korea, as employes of Lincoln Steel Corp., or in their present work as welders.

The one slight variation from the couples' carbon-copy ways is that Delbert and Jane have a daughter, 6, while Herbert and Jean's 5-year-old is a son. They are known to both youngsters, however, as Daddy Delbert, Daddy Herbert, Mama Jane and Mama Jean.

"The cousins also call each other brother and sister, and will fight anybody who says they aren't," claimed The Post.

NU Med College Voted Federal Rehab Money

The State Hospital Advisory Council Monday recommended that the University of Nebraska College of Medicine at Omaha be allocated the remainder of the state's Hill-Burton rehabilitation funds for the current year.

Council members gave priority to the NU project over the proposed $250,000 addition to Orthopedic Hospital at Lincoln because Orthopedic's application will not be ready before the end of this fiscal year, June 30, when $17,000 in rehabilitation funds will lapse if not committed.

The council gave assurances, however, that adequate rehabilitation funds will be available through the next two fiscal years for Orthopedic's proposed project and State Health Director Dr. E. A. Rogers said the council's action would not delay its construction.

The approved Omaha project will cost an estimated $250,352, of which $100,000 will come from Hill-Burton funds for the physical medicine rehabilitation center.

The state now has $72,000 in rehabilitation funds, Dr. Rogers said, and to complete the federal share of $100,000 NU will be given $28,000 of the funds from the fiscal 1963 allocation now pending in Congress.

The balance of the fiscal 1963 funds and fiscal 1964 funds will go to Orthopedic.

Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln asked the council to give Orthopedic priority over the NU project on the basis of need, but Hospital Division Chief Verne Pangborn said Orthopedic could not meet its technical requirements in time.

Cozad Hits Jackpot

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Put the facts on paper and there is only one conclusion to draw—the small towns are headed for oblivion. Rural America is no longer what it used to be and the metropolitan centers are gobbling up the people and the industry. As farming operations become more complex and the farm economy more pinched, there is a drift toward farm consolidation and this means fewer people. Once many small towns could live off the surrounding farms but such is not the case today.

But there is one small town in Nebraska which hasn't paid much attention to these facts. At least, this town has decided that the rural decline is not something inevitable. The town is Cozad, located about in the center of the state in the fertile Platte River valley along U.S. Highway 30. Most Nebraskans should know about Cozad by now but the town's fame has recently been spread. Last week it was on the front page of one of the nation's leading financial publications, The Wall Street Journal. The Journal discussed the success of the town in adding new industry and payrolls in 1961.

Cozad was a town which seemed to be headed the way of other small towns—its young people were leaving, its growth was behind that of the nation and a number of the buildings in its central business district were vacant. Few new homes were being built and the situation in general seemed to be one of only waiting for time to virtually eliminate the town.

But now, Cozad is growing, her merchants report volume on the increase, complete new housing developments are being planned and constructed, schools are becoming crowded and downtown buildings are once again occupied. The addition of two new industries, employing 461 persons, brought such side results as a new furniture store, new barber shop, dress shop, lumber yard, etc.

It is true that Cozad is well located. The surrounding agricultural area is among the best in the nation, it is on the main line of the Union Pacific Railroad and the Interstate Highway will pass its door. But many towns can boast of comparable locations and are still in trouble. It is not meant to imply that Cozad has the world by the tail. Growth brings problems, too, by way of public services and the city has battled this in the past and will have more of it to do in the future. Nor can it live only on what it has done. The Monroe shock absorber plant located there makes the community largely dependent upon one industry.

If Monroe would ever pull out, the town would be in trouble. So, it needs to continue to grow and diversify if it is to secure real stability. But what it has done is not very short of fantastic and it has found new gimmicks in its success. As the Journal story made note of, the town has not given new industry a free tax ride or other lures that have been employed by some towns and cities. It wants only industry that is ready and able to pay its fair share of the municipal load. If concessions are needed, the town has concluded that it doesn't want such an industry. But what Cozad does have is a group of dedicated people who don't know what it means to give up. In addition to this, they do know the meaning of hospitality.

Both the industries that came in early 1961 to start things rolling for Cozad came because Cozad convinced them that they were wanted. The conviction was given by the work the community did to help the industries and the spirit in which it pursued the industries. When information was desired, Cozad had it on the line immediately, even when it meant all-night sessions of work on the part of some people.

When representatives of the industry came to see Cozad, the town turned out as though it were a major holiday. It welcomed these people and entertained them with picnics, backyard barbecues, etc. None of this may seem very scientific but it has worked for Cozad so far and the town will undoubtedly continue it.

You don't get a new industry by wining and dining its chief executives and letting it go at that. Industry wants a good many facts and sometimes you can't even find out what industry it is that is examining your area. But industry does want an area that has a sense of civic pride and a determination to get ahead. It doesn't want to take a new plant into an area of decline and simply go downhill with everything else. Regardless of the town or city involved, it has to show industry that it seeks progress and improvement as well as provide it with essential information.

Perhaps the way Cozad did this is not the right way for every town or city but the objective is the same regardless of the means or method. It is a pleasant thing to see the work done at Cozad receive additional notice and the notice is not likely to hurt them in maintaining the pace they have set for themselves.

Power Change On Its Way

The world is intent on the passing events—that is to say, on the nuclear tests, the stagnating Berlin crisis and the tension in Viet Nam. But it has a more ponderable problem in its aging world leadership.

Nikita Khrushchev is 67; Chiang Kai-shek is 75. Gen. Mao is 68, Konrad Adenauer is 86; Jawaharlal Nehru is 72 and Charles de Gaulle is 71. All of them are a generation older than President Kennedy, a man in his early forties.

It is a provocative, even a formidable thought, that 10 years hence few of the present day decision makers will either be here or be in power. This can be greatly for good or bad. When national leadership expires it is a time for new starts. Old leaders are bound to the past and to their own commitments to it. And where successorship has not been prepared new national directions are speculative. There are not many visible successors to today's aging strong men.

It is pertinent to recall that World War II was waged by Franklin D. Roosevelt, Winston Churchill, Josef Stalin, Benito Mussolini and Adolf Hitler. None of them figure in today's transactions. In United States two successive national leaders, Dwight Eisenhower and Harry Truman are in retirement. Nehru has come to power. So has Mao and De Gaulle. And veteran of them all is Adenauer who arose with the Bonn government and still leads West Germany.

Clearly it is a time of approaching change and a good time for a principal nation to be lengthening its shadow. The United States perhaps is the most fortunate of all in that it has already made the change from age to youthful vigor.

JFK Reassures Business

President Kennedy gave a fair answer to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. He sought to allay apprehension that his administration was anti-business. His point of reference was his recent dispute with U.S. Steel.

Said he, "To the extent of your interest in protecting profit margins, our interests are identical. We in government have a large stake in your profits."

But he added that the public interest required all forces join in achieving non-inflationary profits and wage increases within bound of productivity increases.

The President received abundant applause, but it is to be assumed that he did not achieve a complete meeting of minds with the spokesmen for private business. Nor would a total agreement have been the most wholesome.

ADA Position Impractical

Americans For Democratic Action will not improve their declining political influence by adopting positions inconsistent with the facts of the day. The ADA has gone on record as opposed to further nuclear testing by any nation and to the use of U.S. troops in South Viet Nam. As lofty objectives, neither of these two stands could be attacked but as a matter of implementation they are unrealistic.

The position fails to recognize the nature of the threat which faces the West in dealing with the communist conspiracy to conquer the earth. There is no doubt that Americans would like to forget about nuclear bombs and nuclear weapons of all kinds. There is no doubt that Americans would like to have no one at all in military uniform, much less in uniform overseas and less yet fighting on foreign battlefields.

The United States is deeply indebted to the principle of checks and balances. It goes farther than the interaction of the law making, judicial and executive branches of government. It extends all the way through the national fabric. It is typified by a dual society, one a public society the other private. There must never be a time with the private society nullifies the authority of the public society, nor the converse. It is proper for private business to defend stoutly its real interests and equally proper for the government to advocate the public interest. By the clash of the two positions a suitable accommodation can be reached. The nation may choose which side to root for in the tiff between U.S. Steel and the government but it should remember ever thankful that there are two sides.

But the fundamental responsibility of our government is to preserve the free, democratic way of life that this nation has always enjoyed. The United States and its people have a commitment to the freedom of mankind and the dignity of the individual. This is not something that is done by proclamation. Right in this world has always been a fight and it shall never be any different.

The ADA has spoken of promoting freedom of choice in Asia but it has neglected to recognize the difference between abdication and exercise of responsibility. Freedom is not preserved by turning a nation over to dictatorial powers that seek the enslavement of men. By following the ADA path in these two regards, we would simply be contributing to our own downfall. At best, the organization would win a battle and lose the war.

In The Spirit

The government of Kenya, Africa, has instituted programs to stimulate production and the Kenya business men got the point right away. They quickly obtained the loans and bought more wives. And from their point of view they are on sound ground. With more wives they can get more production and they are mindful that daughters of a marriageable age bring a high price. The Kenya government is now scratching its head trying to figure a way out.

Kennedy Chides His Space Boss

Editor's note — While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column is being written by his associate, Jack Anderson.

Washington — President Kennedy impatiently pushed aside the New York Times the other morning and placed a telephone call to James Webb, the civilian space boss.

The President was displeased over a Times report that the government wasn't pushing its proposal for a satellite communications system.

Webb happens to be a political protégé of Sen. Bob Kerr, Oklahoma Democrat, who wants to turn space communications over to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

This makes about as much sense, Dr. Dallas Smythe told a Senate committee, as "giving the American railroads, say in 1921, the exclusive right to own and operate commercial airlines." Smythe is research communications specialist at the University of Illinois.

He testified that A.T. & T. is already an economic octopus of staggering size.

"Bell System revenues in 1959," he reported, "were greater than the national public revenues of Canada and Sweden combined . . . putting the matter differently, to equal the Bell system assets at the end of 1959, one would have to combine the total assets of Standard Oil of New Jersey, General Motors, and U.S. Steel."

The President has rejected the idea of letting A.T. & T. take over the satellite communications system. He would turn it over instead to private investors, including A. T. & T.

On the phone, he made it clear that he expected Webb to support his, not Senator Kerr's, ideas, and to show more enthusiasm for the proposal.

N.Y. Democrats Seek New Faces

WASHINGTON—New York Democrats now say that they are about to tackle the long overdue task of building a fresh young cadre of candidates for a New Frontier within the state.

June 1 is said to be the deadline by which they hope and expect that party leaders can pull together an attractive ticket which can make a respectable showing against Gov. Rockefeller, Senator Javits and other major Republican officeholders.

In these calculations, the "final and irrevocable decision" by Major Wagner of New York City not to run for governor is seen as a first step. The mayor responded with unusual speed, almost asperity, to White House pressure to run, reinforced by one of its famous polls which showed that Wagner might even be able to defeat Rockefeller.

Naturally the President would like to cut down Rockefeller this year rather than directly in 1964 in the same way that he takes a special interest in promoting Richard Nixon's defeat in California. Wagner chose, in the old Truman phrase, to vote for himself. His chances will be better in 1964 against Senator Kenneth Keating with President Kennedy at the top of the ticket.

Wagner's personal favorite for the nomination for governor is said to be Paul R. Screvane, president of the New York City Council. Screvane is an Italian Catholic with an Irish wife, and his beginnings were humble. This is a background city Democrats approve, indeed search for. What he will look like in a statewide race is the gamble.

Patchwork Prairie Country

At last we know the warmth of May. Although the twilights are chill, the noons grow hot. Mid-morning is the best part of the day when the sun is just beginning to warm the earth. I feel like Old Tabby Cat must feel with the penetrating heat curling about and soaking deep into my weather-beaten bones. Sometimes it's good just to stand and let the sun do the rest. But I can't do that for long. Soon I want to find a nice quiet place like Old Tabby Cat, stretch out and yawn and let the rest of the world go by. Spring fever is just for cats.

Saturday was a busy day for us here at the farm. First thing in the morning, we made bread. One loaf was gone before suppertime. Next we picked fresh rhubarb for a homemade pie. We weeded strawberries and took lunch to the field to The Farmer. Sylvia with the golden hair bounced along beside me all day, chattering like a little magpie all the while.

We crossed the prairie when we went to the field and saw prairie daisies in bloom. Since she had just finished "Little House on the Prairie," I told her Laura and the other girls and boys in the book had probably picked the same kind of daisies in the spring. In this area, there aren't many native prairie fields left.

I have been reading with interest about the Prairie Park that may be set aside in Kansas to preserve the rolling pasture land for future generations. Unspoiled tracts of prairie grass are difficult to find and few are left to tell of the vast acres of tall grass that covered the plains.

Spring comes at just the right time. When the windows begin to show the grime of winter and the bright sunlight of spring accents the smudges, it's time to clean them. Today I sensed a new surge of blood in my veins despite the fact that I have not had my spring tonic of sulphur and molasses. With step-ladder, cleaning cloths and polish, I began to put the sparkle back into the windows. Now that I have started, it will be much easier to complete the task.

This is my time of year; the time of new growth and a new spring glinting through the green foliage. I hope the added vigor I sensed today will carry me through the summer. By the time summer is over, it seems I have neither the strength nor the courage to face winter. But along comes a new season, autumn, to give the respite and beauty to ease the mind and soul. I like the way the pale sunshine slants through the yellow of the willows beside a stream.

Perhaps that is why spring and autumn come to the Midlands. It rather gives us impetus and gears us for the harsh seasons of summer and winter.

The bright spot of color on the table is a blue bowl of daffodils. Soon the first tulips will be open. After that, it is one flower after another that blooms until the roses come in June. It is difficult to visualize that within the month, iris and peonies will be in blossom. Some of the iris have scarcely shown themselves above the mulch. Peonies grow rapidly once they have made their way through the ground.

The Farmer is plowing the land for corn. He turns the straight, clean furrows and the gulls follow behind, screaming ecstatically. There is something about the fresh-turned earth, it's smell, its look and feel that binds man to the soil. When the first farmer scratched the soil with a forked stick, he knew the earth belonged to him. The farmer of today has a link with the farmer of the past for he, too, knows a kinship with the soil. He plows and the mid-day sun is warm upon his back. The mellow earth grows warm and vibrant, too, waiting for the new seed, waiting for a new season and rebirth. The earth belongs to the farmer, but he also belongs to the earth. Spring makes us aware of this and it is good to know.

Unskilled Increasing

Lincoln, Neb. About a month ago, a national weekly magazine carried a series of articles entitled "We Waste a Million Kids A Year." By the most conservative estimate, this is not half the number who will reach the age of employment by 1970. Then it is expected that unless something is done to stem the tide of the ever increasing number of unskilled among us, we shall have 26 million in this class.

The trades, the industries and all the professions are in great need of trained, skilled and semi-skilled workers. Yet save for a few sporadic efforts, little is being done to relieve this situation.

I remember the drought and depression of the mid-thirties. Times were most difficult for many. Communism raised its ugly head in many areas. I recall the dairy farmers, normally intelligent folk, taking part in milk strikes, etc. They felt they were being deprived of a honest living from their dairy herds. It was serious business to them. This historic situation was no more serious potentially than it will be to have this great crowd of unskilled workers around with nothing to do.

There are many reasons for this impending situation. With a population of 180 million in 1960, which it is estimated will rise to 215 million by 1970, the increase in the birth rate is unquestionably the basic cause.

The attitude of employers is having a considerable impact, for most employers refuse to employ a boy or girl unless they have completed their high school education. Many parents, also, suffer no little misconception of their child's need for an education. Too frequently when the child reaches the end of his compulsory school attendance period, he is allowed to quit—not at the end of the term but at the hour and day he reaches this period.

It is said that only one of 10 boys ages 10 to 19 presently on farms will continue to live there. Yet farmer's children don't go to school, especially college, as they should. A survey showed only about one-third of farm boys and girls enrolled in any college, largely due to parental indifference.

At the same time, labor and management are taking a less favorable attitude toward apprenticeships. And listed among the many causes of the ever enlarging, reservoir of unskilled workers are "our archaic vocational and trade schools . . . laws that often hinder rather than help the ability of parents to train their children for work."

Steen Salary

Berwyn, Neb.

No wonder when the Nebraska State Game, Forestation and Parks Commission decided to soak the pitiful taxpayers of Nebraska by upping to $13,620 plus an additional $480 "extra bonus" as the annual salary of their executive director, Mel O. Steen, that they conveniently did this bit of trickery at a "secret executive session" which was not announced until the commissioners and directors were out of the state attending a convention in Denver. No man is worth that much to Nebraska!

It is just such stunts as this that have caused the already overburdened, groaning taxpayers to wonder if "freedom" is worth what it costs. This kind of skulduggery continues to raise constantly the ever increasing costs of bureaucratic government both in the state and national administration. It is too bad this type of "price-fixing" for state employees could not have had the same result as the steel vs. Kennedy debacle.

This shameful act by the game commissioners ought to bring their own house of cards, which represents only a small minority interest group of sports fiends, tumbling down in disgrace. The taxpayers will not endure much longer this type of dictator-like tactics by governing bodies who think they can connive forever against the taxpayer who, after all, is the owner of all. We hope the Legislature will raise such a furor over this unjust, unnecessary, unwise, ridiculous, un-American price for directors that it will be reversed.

Neglected Roadway

Lincoln, Neb.

We have a complaint to make and we think by writing a letter to The Star, the proper authorities will be informed.

We are daily commuters on Highway 77. For the past four or five weeks now, we have seen a dead black and white dog on the east side of the road between the Crete corner and the Crete Corner Gas Station on Highway 77. The poor thing is almost covered with grass now and is starting to deteriorate. We think something should be done about it.

Who is supposed to pick up or bury these poor animals that are unfortunate enough to be hit by passing vehicles? We have been under the impression that it is a part of the duties of the Highway Patrol or the State Department of Roads. We're sure the Patrol has been out cruising around and has seen it.

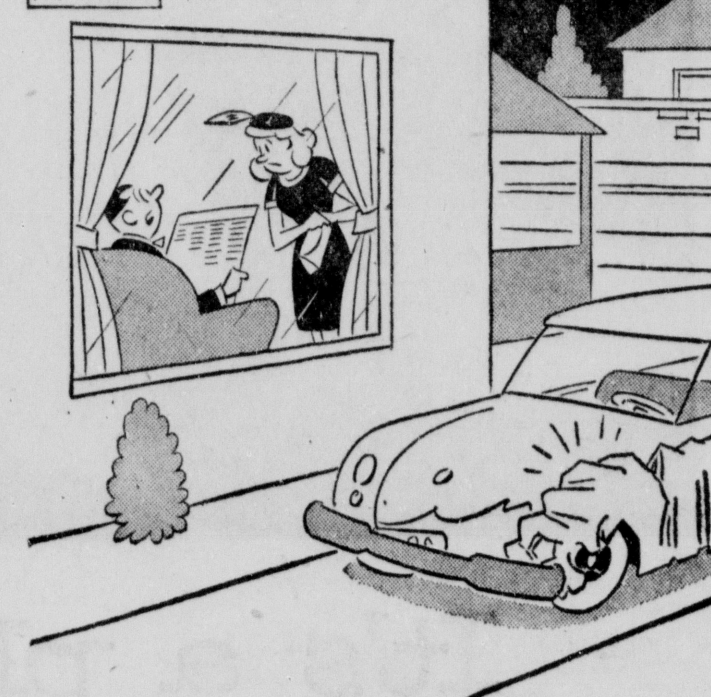

We hope whoever is supposed to be in charge of this matter will start doing his job. This is not the only case, but the most disturbing one for us commuters.

We hope the party concerned will be notified.

A Retiree's Thinking On Hemispheric Peace

By ROBERT PETERSON

We hear a great deal about the wisdom of elders. But Washington is largely dominated by youthful minds these days and even the perennial sage Bernard Baruch is no longer consulted.

It is likely that many elders these days are afraid to speak up for fear of sounding foolish and senile in our youth-conscious society. But maybe we're wrong in overlooking their mental reserves. Age itself does not guarantee wisdom. But age can add perspective and depth to man's observations.

Many ideas which come to this column from older people are fuzzy and unrealistic. But others seem touched with promise. Here's an idea that arrived last month from an old gentleman named Lawrence Ter Maat of Pasadena, Calif.

"Why," asks this retired teacher, "doesn't someone explore the merits of inviting nearby, underdeveloped nations to join the United States?"

"If we had extended such an invitation to Cuba years ago, it is possible she would now be a part of our great nation instead of a threat to our peace."

"I'd like to see us start by inviting Mexico to join the U.S. We should spend some money publicizing among Mexicans the advantages which could be theirs if they were to become part of the U.S. Perhaps eventually they might see the wisdom of accepting the invitation—thus saving us the dangers and defenses we may someday face if Mexico goes Communist as many believe she may. After Mexico other countries in our hemisphere might follow suit and our peaceful nation would grow."

"If we believe our nation offers the finest system of government—and the highest standard of living—on earth, it should not be too difficult to believe that citizens of nearby countries could be persuaded of the advantages which would be theirs in becoming states under our Constitution. And certainly it would be to our advantage to have the resources and safeguards which an expanded United States would offer. Russia is expanding her territories in all directions, and it seems we are asleep at the switch if we don't at least consider expanding our borders via this peaceful, invitational method."

The compelling simplicity of Mr. Ter Maat's idea jolted me into writing Secretary of State Dean Rusk to ask if such an idea had ever been considered. He has replied in the negative via his aide Richardson Dougall who says the historical incidents that come closest to the idea are (1) the admission of Texas in 1845, and (2) the admission of Hawaii in 1959.

Mr. Ter Maat's idea may clash with concepts of Thomas Jefferson and others who said statehood must be reserved for those who by education and culture fully understand our form of government. But in today's fast-moving world we may need to revamp certain concepts to accommodate changing conditions. At any rate, this proposal is an example of the fact that elders these days may have fresh ideas worth considering on the tricky question of security and peace.

Morrison Sees Nothing Irregular About Loan

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Frank Morrison confirmed Monday that he did obtain a $4,000 bank loan late in the 1960 general election campaign and that it was co-signed by a state official, but said he saw no irregularity in the transaction.

Republican National Committee member Donald R. Ross had called upon the governor to give a "full explanation" of the bank note and the co-signature of a state official.

At a press conference Monday, Morrison said, "My campaign committee in October (1960) suggested I go to the bank and sign a note for $4,000 which would be more than adequate to complete the campaign."

This he did, the governor recounted, and then added, that he assumes any portion of the loan's proceeds used for campaign expenses were "accounted for and reported by Mr. (Elmer) Reiling (of Lincoln), treasurer of the campaign committee."

"A major portion of the proceeds was used for a public purpose," Morrison said, and that was the expenses of the governor-elect's office between November and January when he took office.

"It was the feeling of the committee that this was a public service. I know a number of them solicited funds to pay on the note, but there was nothing wrong about that," Morrison continued.

"I think it was a very wonderful contribution for a public purpose in view of the fact the state makes no provisions to pay the expenses of the governor-elect's office in the transition period."

Morrison then stated that the "general solicitation of campaign funds at the Statehouse has gone on for many years."

Nothing Wrong

He said some of the "most honorable" of public servants have been engaged in it, adding, "Never at any time have I indicated that anything was wrong about this, but it so happens that every governor has a right to determine his own policy."

STAR PHOTO

Morrison then explained that several months ago he decided that the policy of his administration would be that there would be no solicitation of funds from state employees.

Returning to the GOP national committeeman's statement, Morrison said, "Nowhere does Ross indicate there was anything wrong."

Before Policy

"All of this took place before the Morrison policy was adopted," the governor said.

"Never in my life have I ever solicited any campaign funds, except maybe a church campaign, but never anything with Morrison on it," the governor continued.

Asked about the late Al Scissors (then director of Motor Vehicles) co-signing the note, Morrison said Scissors was not a state employee, as such, but a "state official who served under two governors."

"He was convinced, along with many other people that I should be governor. He believed in my program. He was a member of the (Morrison campaign) committee."

No Obligation

Asked by a reporter if he would feel any obligation to reappoint a person who had so contributed to his campaign, Morrison replied, "no," and added that never at any time prior to his election had he made any promises of any kind, "nor did I ever promise to appoint anyone."

Asked where the money ($2,000 in cash) came from that Norman Otto had given Morrison's campaign manager James Exon of Lincoln to pay on the bank note, Morrison replied, "I don't know," and then the question was directed to Otto (the governor's administrative assistant), who replied:

"It was given to me by Al Scissors, the head of the committee, who had collected it and beyond that I have no knowledge."

Morrison said, "I don't know of anybody who was solicited to pay the note."

Ross in his earlier statement had said that on about May 24, 1961 Exon had paid $2,000 in cash on the renewal note, which had been handed to him by Otto, and had also said that on February 14, 1961, Exon had paid $1,500 in cash on the note which had been handed him by Scissors.

After the governor's press conference Monday, Ross said: "It would seem to me that the governor would be concerned about where one of his department heads got $3,500 in cash to pay off this note, and prior to the time of Mr. Scissors' death, he should have made this determination if he cannot now."

During Morrison's press conference, he said he believed that Ross "apparently" had released his statement about the $4,000 note Sunday "to get attention away from the only unethical charge that's been made in this campaign."

Morrison claimed the "unethical charge" was GOP gubernatorial candidate Fred Seaton's charge that state employees have been coerced into making contributions to Morrison's 1962 campaign.

Seaton Called

While reporters were present, Morrison instructed Otto to place a call to Seaton requesting him to furnish the names of persons who were coerced, the type of force involved, the amount of money involved and where and when it took place.

Otto was unable to reach Seaton who had left for a GOP meeting at Columbus, and did not reach him subsequently through the day.

Late Monday afternoon, Morrison called Seaton's attorney and campaign manager, Fred Irons, at Hastings to learn where Seaton was.

Deadline Set

Irons advised the governor that Seaton was on a special train with former President Eisenhower on his way to Abilene, Kan. for dedication of the Eisenhower library Tuesday.

Morrison told Irons he would give Seaton "24 more hours to get the information in here."

Morrison said of Seaton's charge, "No responsible candidate could make a charge of that kind without evidence. He's either going to have to withdraw it or prove it."

Asked what he would do if Seaton declines to produce evidence, Morrison said he would "cross that bridge" if and when he comes to it.

ANSWER

by
OUR

Can delinquency be cured by urban renewal? What is your answer?

The Mayor has clearly stated that bad housing is one of the causes of delinquency. He did not say it was the sole cause and he did not say that urban renewal alone could solve it.

We have yet to talk with a social worker or minister or any other knowledgeable person who doesn't agree that bad housing contributes to juvenile delinquency and that it is one of the cancers of community living. To the extent that urban renewal eliminates bad housing it will have helped in the over-all fight against delinquency in Lincoln.

Anti-urban renewal forces say that the City can correct the houses that really need correction by proper enforcement of our present codes and ordinances. True or false?

Most of the structures in areas of bad housing are too old to be brought under the provisions of these codes. They are exempt.

But even assuming that there are legal means of condemning and tearing down structures which are not decent for housing, remember that without urban renewal there are no safeguards for the occupants. Do you want to see people put out on the street with no provision for relocation and no financial assistance in moving?

Eye Sublease Of City Lands At 31st, South

The City Council Monday directed the city attorney to inform the Holdrege Building Corp. that any subleasing of leased city property at 3120

South must have council approval.

Residents of the Winthrop Road and South area are protesting the building permit and curb cuts granted for a drive-in restaurant at 3120 South.

City Atty. Ralph Nelson advised the council that under the 25-year city lease to the Holdrege Building Corp. that any subleasing of the land by the corporation requires council approval.

Nelson said there's no evidence so far that the drive-in restaurant, now under construction, nor a service station, now in operation, have been subleased.

Councilwoman Helen Boosalis said she doesn't know how the city can say no to the corporation after construction work has started.

"If they've broken the lease," replied Nelson, "you just say no."

Paul Schubach, spokesman for the delegation against the new development, has told council the drive-in restaurant will make traffic congestion an impossible situation at Winthrop and South.

Council Sets Standards On Dry Cleaning

An ordinance regulating the installation and operation of coin-operated automatic dry cleaning machines was adopted Monday by the City Council.

Atty. Robert Guenzel, representing automatic dry cleaning operators, said the ordinance has the joint approval of the industry and city health officials.

It provides installation and ventilation standards for the machines, other operational safeguards, and annual inspections by the health department.

Installation permit fee is $25 plus $5 for each machine. Renewal and inspection fee is $15 for the licensing year beginning June 1.

Council action on other ordinances:

Appraisal Is Urged For City

A Chamber of Commerce spokesman Monday urged the City Council to consider making a joint reappraisal with the county of assessed valuation on all business property.

Atty. Robert Guenzel suggested this alternative to a detailed study for implementing the consolidation of the city and county tax assessing offices.

The city has appropriated $10,000 for such a study and the county has earmarked $5,000. A similar amount for the two-year study is anticipated for the 1962-63 fiscal year.

$30,000 Estimate

Guenzel estimated a "tax assessment reappraisal" on business property by an independent appraisal firm, like the one used by the county in 1953, might cost $30,000.

He said the "the most serious discrepancies between city and county valuations appear on business property."

Guenzel estimated it might cost $120,000 or more "to do the whole job and include residential and rural properties."

The Chamber is on record as favoring consolidation of the city and county assessing offices and abandonment of separate property assessments by the city and county.

Property Owners Petition City To Widen South St.

Informal petitions for widening and repaving South St. from 48th to 62nd with the city sharing 50% of the cost were presented Monday to the City Council.

Richard McDaniel of 5039 South said the petitioning property owners represent nearly 59% of the street's front footage.

Estimated cost of widening the 18-ft. street to 32 feet, curb and guttering and resurfacing existing brick portions is $15.83 per front foot.

McDaniel said a police traffic count shows 4,842 vehicles use the street each day, or an average of "200 cars an hour on an 18-foot wide street."

The council referred the petition to the city engineering department for further report and detailed cost estimates.

The "WISP-EAR" can help 7 out of 10 persons with hearing losses. Slips in and out of your ear so easily — ideal for those who "hear but don't understand." As small as a dime, as light as a nickel.

Homeowners Want To Nix 2 Sidewalks

Two proposed sidewalk districts which drew opposition from property owners during a public hearing Monday were tabled until next Monday by the City Council for further study and an engineering report.

Sidewalk District 5 for both sides of 31st from Calvert to Sheridan drew the most fire.

Robert Russell of 3223 So. 31st said the street has fewer children today than when the residential street was developed 25 years ago without sidewalks.

He said residents are "deeply concerned for the loss of more than 100 trees if the sidewalk is constructed."

School officials have reported 65 children use the street in reaching nearby public and parochial schools.

Also speaking in opposition were Fred Groth and J. C. Whitten. A petition with 57 signatures in opposition was also presented.

Mrs. Larry Hogge of 3410 So. 31st said the sidewalks are needed for the children.

Several residents appeared in opposition to Sidewalk District 6 for Cotner from Randolph to O and Cotner from 56th to O.

Again loss of trees and shrubbery were cited. An estimated 25 children use the street in reaching schools.

Atty. Robert Camp said all property owners affected, except 8, oppose the sidewalk district.

Intellectual Unpreparedness Scored

By WOODY HOWE
Star Staff Writer

Dr. Robert D. Calkins, president of the Brookings Institute, added his authoritative voice Monday to a rising chorus of insistence that universities must broaden their adult education programs beyond what they are now doing.

Dr. Calkins, an economist, addressed the annual National University Extension Assn. conference, in its second day of meetings at the Nebraska Center.

He told 230 conference registrants that the "intellectual unpreparedness" of the country's thinking people is more disturbing than the economic and social problems confronting us.

The present emphasis of higher education is properly on the preparation of youth for specialized effort, he said, but it is at the expense of broad, overall preparation.

"It then renders this specialized preparation obsolete as soon as possible," Dr. Calkins continued.

Offset Damage

It is time universities consider how "they might offset the damage this system does to the living generation of adults who are managing things for some time to come," the holder of honorary degrees from 6 universities urged.

"No branch of higher education is more neglected today than the re-education of the educated."

"Continuing education for adults is no longer merely a good and worthy thing for self-development; it has become a national necessity . . .," Dr. Calkins warned.

America is an open society where specialists shift often from one career to another with astonishingly little advance preparation, he noted.

Pathetic Success

"The most pathetic spectacle in American life is the

Sten Delaplante

On the day I got into Madrid, the great bullfighter Juan Belmonte died. He was in the 70th year of his age. And he died in his own home, by his own hand — not on the sun struck sand where the Miura bulls come thundering in to play the ballet that tightens Spanish throats.

"He was one of the great ones," agreed the waiter in the Plaza Mayor. "But there was only one Manolete."

The waiter mopped off the marble-top table. He poured me a glass of the golden manzanilla wine of Andalusia and set out a dish of salted Spanish almonds.

Then I think he went out to the kitchen and hit himself with a little cooking sherry to calm his nerves.

The bullfight is full of emotion. Manolete was killed in the ring at Linares. The mention of his name sets up a faster heartbeat for he died in the moment of glory.

I went out to the bullfights

JUDGE PAUL WHITE

FOR

CHIEF JUSTICE

- 10th Year as District Judge
- President Nebraska District Judges

Sunday with Mr. Charles Mapes, the Reno bon vivant whose romance with "Bobo" Rockefeller has been making ink on newspaper.

He looked in the pink. But he said emotion had been running high, low jack and the game.

"I have run up against so much Lithuanian temperament, I doubt if a bullfight would stir me up."

It was an excellent sunny day. The Madrid arena is smaller than Mexico City's enormous Plaza Mexico. But it is a beautiful piece of architecture in pink stone.

We went out the back gate, where, between the buildings, they were exercising the blindfolded horses. A number of aficionados stood at the entrance of the dressing room marked "Torerros."

After a while, we went up and rented pillows—the seats are hard stone.

The music played to a close. The bugle blew a rising, falling call.

And the first bull came in.

The bulls of the bullfight are bred for fighting by testing their mothers.

You cannot test a bull to see if he will charge the cape. He learns too quickly to go after the man. (By the time he learns this in the ring, it is too late.)

The breeders test the cows. If the cow charges, she gets to raise a brave bull.

This bull may have had a brave mother. But he felt only loving kindness toward the world. He gave a polite hello to the man with the cape. And he looked around for flowers to sniff.

It made the crowd furious. Bullfights are for bravery. On both sides. They whistled and clapped their hands angrily at the animal. The bull did not care at all. He ambled around the ring, apparently looking for someone to buy him a beer.

They then ran this cowardly bull out. And they ran in his substitute. The next 6 bulls were satisfactorily brave. And were suitably rewarded for such foolishness by getting themselves dead, Dundee.

Charles Mapes contented himself by criticizing the horsemanship of the picadors. The picadors come in at the second stage of the bullfight.

MORATORIUM ON NON-MINERAL U.S. LAND MINING ENDS

Washington (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall ended the moratorium which has been in effect on filing of applications for tracts of non-mineral federal land in Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas and Nebraska.

The moratorium originally was announced in February, 1961, for a period of 18 months for 15 Western public-land states and remains effective in 8 states.

Udall said elimination of most of the old backlogs of applications in Colorado, Wyoming, Kansas, Nebraska, Montana, North Dakota and South Dakota had permitted lifting the moratorium earlier than expected. It was ended in mid-February in Montana and the Dakotas.

Nuclear Testing Might Cause Bizarre Effects

Washington (AP) — Bizarre, though temporary, atmospheric effects can be expected from high-altitude nuclear test blasts in the Pacific. These could include spectacular auroral displays and interference with radio communications.

The United States is expected to touch off such high-altitude explosions in the Johnston Island area and scientists called attention Monday to atmospheric results in 1958 after such tests.

They said such blasts in the current series could be expected to produce similar — and perhaps intensified — results, assuming the force is in the megaton range. A megaton is the explosive equivalent of a million tons of TNT.

One of the two 1958 shots was set off at about 50 miles altitude and was estimated unofficially to have had a yield of about 10 megatons. It produced an auroral display above Samoa, about 2,000 miles south of Johnston Island. This stemmed from atomic particles from the explosion distorting the earth's magnetic field.

The blast also interfered temporarily with high-frequency radio communications in a radius more than 2,000 miles in all directions from the detonation site.

Scientists said that in general, the greater the yield of a nuclear device, and the higher the altitude of detonation, the more widespread the effects.

One unconfirmed report Monday was that the United States might touch off a megaton-type device, at an altitude of about 500 miles. There was speculation that this might disturb the magnetic field strongly enough to cause a dumping of nature's own nuclear particles from the lower of the two Van Allen radiation belts.

But scientific opinion varied on such a latter effect — even presuming that the United States actually did set off a megatonner at such a high altitude.

One scientist said it was possible that such a dumping of particles — protons and electrons — might occur. On the other hand, he said, the converse might be true: any such explosion might tend to intensify the lower Van Allen belt, with sub-atomic particles from the nuclear blast being added to those already put there by nature.

Oxford Receives Invitation To 'Free-Style Elephant Gambol'

Oxford, England (AP)—Oxford University got an invitation from California Monday to take part in an elephant race.

Everett Moore, who styles himself president of Orange County State College's Elephant Racing Club, told Oxford officials by letter 18 other universities—including Moscow, Yale and Harvard—have been asked to compete.

"Many colleges are seriously considering dropping football because of the cost," he wrote. "We feel that elephant racing is the ideal substitute."

Entry Form

Moore enclosed an entry form for the May 11 meet on Orange County's athletic field.

He asked prospective mahouts—riders—to indicate whether their mounts were of a "happy even temper," "frightened easily," or whether they "stampede at the drop of a hat."

Moore proposes that the meet include

Luft Says Judy Spirited Off Kids; Cops Check

New York (AP) — Detectives disclosed Monday they are investigating a report by movie producer Sid Luft that two men forcefully retrained him while his wife, Actress Judy Garland, spirited their two children out of his hotel room.

The incident happened Saturday night, Luft said, and that same night Miss Garland flew to London with her 3 children, Joey, 7, Lorna, 9, and Lisa Minelli, 16. Luft is the father of Joey and Lorna while Lisa is from Miss Garland's previous marriage to movie director Vincente Minelli, second of her 3 husbands.

The 38-year-old actress-singer, in a statement issued here by her press agent, said she left for England earlier than anticipated because she understood Luft had "threatened to have me declared an unfit mother" and take their two children away from her.

Luft, 45, laughed off that charge but said he would fly to London soon to see the children. "They won't be there long," he added, without elaborating.

When Miss Garland heard that Luft was planning to fly over, she moved the 3 children Monday night from an English country home near Epsom to the London hotel where she was staying.

"I cannot speak for the feelings of a mother," her manager, David Begelman said later Monday night in London. "But I know that her maternal instincts were roused in a very protective way by the apparent attempt of Mr. Luft to take her children away."

Miss Garland plans to be in London for 3 months making a motion picture.

Luft told police two men forced their way into his suite at the Hotel Stanhope here and that one held him around the neck and the other by the arms. While he was restrained, he said, his wife left the suite with the two children.

Luft said he had brought

The movie producer in with a friend, conferred with his wife on domestic matters Saturday, police said. Three times that day, they said, Judy became "hysterical" and patrol cars were sent to the hotel on those occasions to restore peace.

Luft, who has now moved

Were Brides At Weekend Ceremonies

MRS. LUCA FRANK PUMILIA

Bouquets of white gladioli and yellow carnations appointed the altar of St. Mary's Cathedral on Saturday morning, April 28, for the wedding of Miss Alice LeMae Theis, daughter of Mrs. Frank P. Theis, and Capt. Luca Frank Pumilia, USAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pumilia of New Orleans, La. The 10 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by Msgr. John J. Flynn.

Wearing frocks of white frosted nylon over maize taffeta in the daytime length, and carrying nosegays of white daisies and yellow carnations, were Mrs. Robert H. Everett of Sioux City, Iowa, who was her sister's matron of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss Corinne Williams.

Frank John Pumilia of New Orleans served as best man, and seating the guests were Ralph Kilzer, Ft. Riley, Kan.; Lt. Stan Lesky and Robert Burns.

Given in marriage by her brother, Donald R. Theis of Hastings, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and silk organza. Long sleeves and a scalloped Sabrina neckling accented the lace bodice, and floral appliques of the lace trimmed the voluminous skirt of organza, which was draped at the hemline.

Capt. and Mrs. Pumilia will reside at 2544 J, upon their return from a wedding trip to New Orleans.

MRS. LARRY E. WULF

At a 7 o'clock ceremony solemnized Sunday evening, April 29, Miss Janelle Hagerbaumer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hagerbaumer of Hooper, became the bride of Larry E. Wulf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer G. Wulf of Blair. The lines of the double ring service were read by the Rev. E. E. Eckhardt at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Hooper.

Miss Joyce Meier of Fremont, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Kenneth Thernes and Mrs. Marvin Plessing, Hooper, and Mrs. Milan Nore, Kearney, wore frocks of silk organza over taffeta in tones of blue.

Serving his brother as best man was Lynn Wulf of Blair, and the corps of ushers included Marshall Kuhr, Blair; Marvin Plessing, Hooper; Ron Morse, Gothenburg; Garlyn Hagerbaumer, Arlington; and Dennis Johannsen, Bennington.

The bride appeared in a period gown of white Chantilly lace smoothed over taffeta. Sequin embroidery highlighted the scalloped, portrait neckline of the long-sleeved basque, and the fullness of the lace skirt was emphasized by a back panel of tulle and lace.

Mr. and Mrs. Wulf will make their home at 6516 Logan in Lincoln, where the bridegroom is a senior at the University of Nebraska. He is a member of Farmhouse fraternity and Alpha Zeta honorary.

Spring definitely has arrived and the tempo of activity in suburbia has picked up accordingly. We have news of social gatherings hither and yon, as well as newcomers to introduce.

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

Spring definitely has arrived and the tempo of activity in suburbia has picked up accordingly. We have news of social gatherings hither and yon, as well as newcomers to introduce.

EASTRIDGE

Traveling to Fremont next Sunday will be Mr. and Mrs. William Sonderegger and their children, Kurt, Ted, and Julie. In Fremont, they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pearson. They will return home Sunday evening.

Also on the social scene next Sunday is the informal coffee to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Forrest. Ten couples have been invited to the Forrest home.

Among Eastridge's youngest newcomers is Miss Jean Marie Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Gray, who arrived at St. Elizabeth Hospital on Thursday, April 19. Jean's brothers and sisters are Eddie, 9; Jim, 8; Mary, 7; Steven, 5; and Patricia, who is three and a half.

The young lady's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Reilly of St. Louis, Mo., and her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James F. Gray, Iso of St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Reilly arrived in Lincoln on Easter Monday for a visit with the family and their new granddaughter. They plan to return to St. Louis next Monday.

Also among Eastridge newcomers we find Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Bartels and their children, Mike, who is 14, and Patricia, who is 10. The Bartel family moved to 1100 Mulder Drive on Thursday, April 12, from their Eastborough address, 600 So.

And on the birthday calendar for last week we found Miss Catherine Levander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Levander, who observed her seventh birthday anniversary last Wednesday. However, Catherine celebrated the event on Tuesday, a day early.

MEADOW LANE

And in Meadow Lane, we learned that Mr. and Mrs. Keith Roper are the parents of a daughter, Jamie Leigh, who was born at Lincoln General Hospital on Wednesday, April 11. Miss Jamie has a sister, Vicki, 10, and two brothers, Gary, 8, and Todd, 4.

Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Kershner of Denver, Colo., who arrived in Lincoln for a visit the day before their granddaughter's debut. They returned to Denver Sunday evening.

Jamie's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Roper also of Denver.

EASTBOROUGH

Service in the Armed Forces with its resulting transfer from one change of address to another — sometimes half-way around the world—surprisingly often reunites old friends and neighbors.

Early in April, Capt. and Mrs. James McDonnell who only recently arrived in Lincoln from Florida, bumped into former neighbors from Puerto Rico, Capt. and Mrs. David Culver, now of Omaha.

And it happened again last week when the McDonnells located Capt. and Mrs. Floyd Stockstill at Offutt Air Force Base, Omaha, also former Puerto Rico neighbors.

Also on the list of newcomers are Mr. and Mrs. Keith Attebery, who moved to 7720 Mesa Road in late March. They formerly resided at 4135 Lenox. Mr. and Mrs. Attebery have a daughter, Judy, who is 18 and attends Lincoln High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Steffen on E. Avon Lane are the proud parents of a daughter, Sherri Lynn, who was born on Tuesday, April 24, at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Young Miss Steffen, however, will arrive home just about in time to pack up for the family's move to their new home at 5430 S, next week.

The newcomer has a two year-old brother, Scott, and her grandparents are Mr.

and Mrs. John Lutz and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Steffen.

WEDGEWOOD MANOR

And in case you have been wondering who the new neighbors are at 7120 Englewood Drive, we will introduce to you Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Jones, who came to Lincoln around the first of April. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are former residents of Tulsa, Okla.

We Hear That

Leaving on Saturday to return to their home in Bethesda, Md., were Dr. and Mrs. Milton Wittman and three of their children, Brendel, Peretz and Davida, who spent last week as the guests of Mrs. Wittman's mother, Mrs. David Diamond.

LWC New President

Mrs. Harley McCoid (left) was installed as the new president of the Lincoln Woman's Club on Monday afternoon. Mrs. McCoid is pictured with Mrs. Donald T. Waggener, outgoing president (at right).

Plans were made for the annual membership tea on May 14, for which Mrs. Joseph Kase will be chairman, and following the meeting, the members inspected the club house nursery, recently decorated and furnished with a $1,000 fund, the contribution of Mrs. E. W. Rowe.

Spring has come to the Lincoln Air Force Base just as it has to almost everywhere. Spring inspires festivity, and wishful thinking about far away places—such as Hawaii.

So, the Catholic boys and girls at LAFB had a luau in the chapel annex at the Base, and the motif, naturally, was strictly Hawaiian.

DAR Chapter Plans Luncheon

Mrs. Thomas Swearingen will be chairman of the hostess committee for the Friday luncheon of Deborah Avery Chapter, DAR, to be held at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Mrs. Grant Ackerman,

Connie's Column

by Constance Flame

FISHY TRICK

Move your goldfish to larger quarters! Scald the small bowl, and copy this clever hint from Mrs. Russell Lewis, Dubuque, Iowa. When whipping cream or mayonnaise with an egg beater, use a fish bowl! Beater slips into wide-mouth top; splashes can't slip over your apron.

BANDAGED BEAUTY

Does your mirror show a multiplying chin? Make a gauze bandage chin-strap; wear it while you tidy the house. Open and close your mouth, over and over. (Feel like a fish? No one can see you.) Gauze makes a handy headband, when you're putting on make-up. Or "bandage" a hairbrush, to clean dust from your hair.

LESS LABOR

Now that spring housecleaning is here...aren't you glad you heat with gas? There's less smoke, soot and furnace film on walls and draperies. Gas-heated homes needn't be redecorated so often. (One more way gas helps you save!) If you phone your local gas company or gas heating contractor now...bet you'd be set for gas air conditioning this summer, too! An expert will make a free estimate; just ask.

EASY CHICKEN CASSEROLE

Dorothy M. Patty of Fremont, Nebr., pops this casserole in the oven, then goes shopping. Place 6 to 8 frozen chicken breasts in a greased 2-quart baking dish. Mix together 1 cup instant-cooking rice, 1 package onion soup mix, 1 can cream of celery soup (undiluted), 1 cup diced celery and 1½ cups milk. Pour over chicken. Tightly cover casserole with cover or foil wrap. Bake two hours in a 350-degree gas oven. Get praises from four guests!

It Seams To Me It's No Easy Job

Patricia Scott

Making a suit is no easy job, but, if it turns out well, it's one of the most satisfying projects you can undertake. Since I can't show you how to make a suit in one column, I'll take certain points of tailoring from time to time, until all phases are covered.

Today, I'll cover the interfacing of an undercollar, and the decorative details used on jackets and skirts.

Interfacing an Undercollar (Figure 1):

1. Pin the collar interfacing to the wrong side of the undercollar along the neck edge. Now, make a sharp fold with your fingers along the crease line. This is the line where your collar will roll after it's attached to the jacket. Make a row of back stitches along the crease line, catching both the undercollar and the interfacing.

2. The section below this crease line must be padded to prevent the neck edge from stretching. Do this with crosswise rows of tailor's basting (or padding stitches) from the crease line to the seam allowance of the neck edge and between the shoulder seam marks. This is shown in the top section of the diagram. You'll find this easier to do if you roll the collar and interfacing over your finger as you sew, so that the interfacing can stretch as much as necessary.

3. Pad the rest of the collar outside the crease line. This time, make stitches in lengthwise rows between crease line and seam allowance. Stitches must go in this direction because, to set properly, the outer edge of the collar must stretch crosswise.

4. Trim off the full seam allowance of the interfacing on all four edges.

Arrowhead Tack (Figure 2): The arrowhead tack is used to secure and decorate ends of pleats, darts, corners, pockets, etc. It is especially good for holding pleats in place.

With chalk, mark a triangle in the proper position. Bring your needle up through the lower left hand corner (A) with the knot on the wrong side. Bring the needle to the top point (B) and take a tiny stitch across the point, from right to left so that the needle remains on the right side of the fabric. Now bring the needle down to the lower right corner (C), pass the needle through to the wrong side and then back up through point A. Continue doing this until the triangle is completed, being sure to keep the stitches close together and always bringing the needle from right to left.

Bar Tack (Figure 3): The bar tack is excellent for strengthening corners and securing open ends. It is used frequently on the pockets of tailored suits.

Make several stitches through the fabric across the end of the opening. With a small overhand stitch, sew over and over these threads, catching in just a few threads of fabric underneath and with the needle always going from right to left. Do this until the bar is completed. Finish the ends with a small bar tack, made in the same way you made the larger one.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

CFG Dinners

The Camp Fire Girls of District III will entertain their fathers Wednesday evening at their annual dad-daughter dinner to be held at Cotner Terrace. Approximately 250 are expected to attend, and serving as master of ceremonies will be John Cooper.

A skit will be given by Mrs. Orval Davidson's group, and Vicki Lindgren will give the welcome, with Charles Davidson responding.

On Wednesday evening, May 9, 300 Blue Birds in District III and their fathers will meet for dinner at Cotner Terrace. Master of ceremonies will be Bill Kinsey.

Dear Abby

Abby Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My telephone just rang for the third time in two hours, and that was the straw that broke the camel's back. After dropping my work and nearly breaking my neck over the children's toys, I was asked to buy a certain product. What about starting a campaign to stop this sort of thing? When I want to buy something I'll go to the store, and I'm sure not going to buy the product that is advertised by someone who called me on the phone and disturbed my work.

IRENE

DEAR IRENE: Telephone solicitation gives employment to those who cannot leave their homes. But although the callers are guiltless themselves, I think the sponsors of such intrusive advertising make more enemies than friends.

DEAR ABBY: Would it look funny for a bride to wear flat-heeled shoes at her wedding because, if she wore high heels, she would be taller than the groom?

TALL ONE

Dear TALL: Unless your future husband is loaded with confidence, better wear the flats and let him be taller. (Anyway, who looks at a bride's feet when her face is glowing with happiness?)

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TOO MUCH TOO SOON": It's never too late to reform. Start giving nothing — and right now.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CONSTANT READER: No "oldster" ever got rich on his Social Security, and I doubt if any son or daughter ever went to the poor house feeding an elderly parent. Shame on you.

For a personal (unpublished) reply to your problem, send Abby a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Why Grow Old? A Spring Makeover

Josephine Lowman

Summer, with its abbreviated, lightweight clothes and revealing swim suits, is only a skip and a hope away. Perhaps YOU are only NINE days away from a youthful, slim feeling, from a truly lovely silhouette; just nine days away from new self-confidence and increased enjoyment of your clothes.

That roll over the girdle spoils everything for us, and just five or 10 pounds too much can cause it. You can lose five to 10 pounds if you follow my 9-Day Diet which I am bringing you in this column this week.

Think of this short period as your Spring Makeover as well as a quick reducer. It is surprising how much a regular beauty routine can do even in this short a time. Make special skin care part of your Spring Redoing.

Our complexions have taken a buffeting from houses which were too hot and winter winds and cold weather. In winter, we lead more sedentary lives and eat richer food than we do in warmer seasons. Our complexions reflect all this.

If you have not cleansed your face correctly in the past, or if you have failed to apply eye cream at night although you needed it, or have forgotten about lubricating cream, banish this neglect for just nine days, anyway. During this period use a moisturizing cream or lotion and treat your skin to a couple of masks. You will be surprised by the difference it will make in your appearance.

Here are Wednesday's Menus:

BREAKFAST
One-half grapefruit
One thin dry piece of whole wheat toast, Black coffee

MID MORNING
Glass of skimmed milk or buttermilk

LUNCHEON
One poached egg
One thin dry piece of

Both East And West Act To Bar May Day Strife In Berlin

Berlin (P) — Both communist and Western authorities in this divided city are taking precautions to prevent trouble along the wall during two rival May Day celebrations Tuesday.

In red-ruled East Berlin, tanks and guns of the East German army will rumble through Marx-Engels Platz. The communist press has promised circus elephants and horses as an added attraction.

Little more than a mile away, thousands of West Berliners will mass near the Reds' cement and wire barrier to hear speeches under a huge signboard reading "Freedom Knows No Walls."

Differences

Similar demonstrations have been held on May Day for years. This time, though, there are differences. The most important is the wall, which the communists began building last August.

There have been persistent rumors, of a kind impossible to check, that an unidentified group in the West plans to take some kind of action against the wall.

West Berlin police have laid down about a mile of barbed wire entanglement to hold the Western crowd well back. Headquarters has detailed 3,500 men to keep things in hand.

Keep Back

On the East Berlin side, police regularly keep people at least 100 yards back of the wall. There have been reports that 90 truckloads of men and equipment were unloaded over the weekend at the house of ministries, once Marshal Hermann Goering's air force headquarters. It is in a strategic position between the sites of the two demonstrations.

Bilingual Timetable

Montreal (P)—The Canadian National Railway has come out with its first bilingual railway timetable. The 64-page English-French timetable will be distributed across Canada and in the United States.

close watch on developments, although they have announced no plans.

Officially, both sides want to avoid trouble.

No Rabble-Rouser

The main speaker in West Berlin will be West German President Heinrich Lübke. Lübke is no rabble-rouser, but the communists have complained about his visit. They contend Berlin is not part of the Bonn Republic and that he has no business here.

Also at the Western meeting will be Gen. Lucius D. Clay, President Kennedy's personal envoy in Berlin, making his last big public appearance before leaving his post.

The communists have denounced the meeting as a provocation and demanded that it be moved to another spot, farther from the wall. West Berlin authorities ignored the demand.

Lot of Cables

Western police were interested to see a lot of cables laid in East Berlin over the week end — about as close as could be to the site of the West Berlin demonstration. There was some speculation that the cables were for loudspeakers to drown out the West Berlin speeches.

—HOPES HIGH— Juliana's Daughters Hunting?

Amsterdam, Netherlands (P) —Queen Juliana reached a grandmotherly 53 Monday — with not a solitary grandchild in sight. Hope rose, however, that her unwed daughters may find husbands from an influx of royal bachelors.

Officially, the eligible young men headed here to celebrate the silver wedding anniversary of Juliana and her husband, Prince Bernhard.

"But who knows what will happen?" said a source close to the Dutch court in an interview. "We have 4 bachelor princesses and they will meet a number of perhaps suitable bachelor princes."

The princesses are:
Crown Princess Beatrix, 24, with an income of about $84,000 a year.

Irene, 22, the prettiest of the 4.

Margriet, 19, an accomplished horsewoman with the strongest personality of the group.

Marijke, 15.

Among the blue-blooded young men who will be present:

Prince Michael of Greece, 23.
Prince Charles of Luxembourg, 35.
Prince Friedrich Wilhelm of Prussia, 23.

Prince Heinrich of Prussia, 22.
Prince Karl of Hesse, 25.
Prince Otto of Hesse, 24.
Count Bertil Bernadotte of Sweden, 26.

The massing of royalty will include 5 reigning sovereigns — Queen Elizabeth II of Britain, the Shah of Iran, King Baudouin of Belgium, King Olaf of Norway and the Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg.

Actually, Juliana and Bernhard were married Jan. 7, 1937, but January weather in the Netherlands can be severe for festivities, royal or otherwise.

So the anniversary celebrations were switched to early May, a happy choice since Juliana's 53rd birthday fell on April 30.

Dressed in a polka dot frock beneath her navy blue coat, and a white hat, Queen Juliana started the celebrations Monday afternoon with a drive with her husband through cheering crowds on Amsterdam's festooned streets.

Their fairy-tale open carriage was pulled by 6 horses. Behind them came the 4 princesses, smiling and waving, in another carriage.

A police official said nearly a million people saw the procession.

British Remove Ban Fans From U.S. Embassy

London (UPI) — British police forcibly removed 7 ban-the-bomb demonstrators, including 3 Americans, from the U.S. Embassy Monday.

But the demonstrators — one of them an Englishwoman — vowed to return Tuesday for a new attempt to deliver a protest against the American resumption of atmospheric nuclear testing in the Pacific.

The 7 said they belong to British philosopher Lord (Bertrand) Russell's anti-nuclear Committee of 100.

An earlier vow — made after police firmly deposited them on the sidewalk — to remain there all night quickly faded after 15 minutes. They all got up off the cold cement and walked away quietly.

The Americans were identified as:

James D. Garst, 35, a free lance writer from New York; Wayne Mills, 28, a graduate student in physics of Saratoga, Calif.; and Karl Mayer, 19, a medical student at Cambridge University from Palo Alto, Calif.

The 4 Britons included one woman.

Their sit-in came as round-the-clock demonstrations in front of the embassy, against U.S. nuclear tests, continued for the 5th day.

Constant picketing has taken place since last Thursday night when more than 1,000 demonstrators marched on the embassy and 192 were arrested in an outside sit-down strike.

Mills, who insists he has a constitutional right "to petition my government for a redress of grievances," said he and the others will be back Tuesday morning — and every morning — until they succeed in seeing a high official of the U.S. government.

But an embassy spokesman made it clear that they had no chance of seeing anybody. "We have lost our patience," the spokesman explained. "There has been an endless stream of people — mostly British citizens — trying to see us."

Garst and Mills said they picketed the Soviet embassy here last fall when the Russians resumed nuclear tests. Mayer, who like Mills has a beard, said he was in Boston at the time and joined in protest demonstrations there.

Beloit Chief To Study Sorority's Probation

Beloit, Wis. (UPI) — President Miller Upton of Beloit College asked for a "bill of particulars" Monday on the probation given the college's Delta Gamma sorority chapter, which pledged a Negro girl.

At the same time, Phyllis Fransworth, chapter president, said Patricia Hamilton, Madison, Wis., the Negro girl who was pledged last month, "remains a pledge."

Upton had dean of students John Gwin send the request for the reasons for the probation to Mrs. Robert Preston, Long Island, N.Y., national president of the sorority. Gwin said Delta Gamma has "no restrictive clause" about membership in its constitution.

"I understand the chapter has been given a bill of particulars about being placed on probation," Upton said. "But I haven't asked the chapter about it. It's not up to the chapter but the national headquarters to make the reasons public."

Upton said the chapter was "trying to work this out" with the national headquarters and "didn't want to break faith" by revealing the reasons for the probation, which was handed out about 10 days ago, but was not made public until the weekend.

Miss Hamilton, a liberal arts junior who is president-elect of the Associated Women Students, campus governing body for coeds, received an additional honor Monday. She was taken into Mortar Board, a national scholastic honor society.

It was understood the sorority was continuing to meet and go ahead with planned functions, but not as a Delta Gamma chapter.

The probation, in effect for three months, bans rushing, pledging, initiation and social and business meetings during the period.

Mrs. Russell W. Nash, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who made public the probation when she sent her resignation from the sorority to Mrs. Preston, said the action would probably come up at Delta Gamma's national convention in June.

Mrs. Nash said she fought a similar anti-discrimination battle successfully in Mortar Board while at the University of Minnesota.

Dr. Hugh McLeay Services Set For Omaha Tuesday

Services for Dr. Hugh L. McLeay, former Lincoln State Hospital staff member who died in Omaha Sunday, will be 11 a.m. Tuesday at the John A. Gentlemen Chapel in Omaha.

Dr. McLeay, 85, had served at the State Hospital here for 17 years after practicing in the Edgar community. He retired in 1960.

The Nebraska State Medical Assn. in 1951 honored him for 50 years of continuous practice.

A native of Toronto, Canada, he was a graduate of the Upper Canada University Medical School.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth; a son, Dr. John F. McLeay of Oxnard, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. A. R. Green of Toronto, and 4 grandchildren.

The bald eagle, adopted as an emblem of the United States in 1782, is waiting. Fewer than 500 pairs survive south of Canada. For years they were hunted for bounty. Now federal law protects them.

Food expenditures account for 30% of the U.S. consumer's income. French and English consumers spend 30% for food, while Russians spend 50%.

WAKEFIELD'S BLACKBERRY BALSAM COMPOUND

The Whitewash

The NCAA has finally ruled.
The Rockies are free of snows.
And the very least that can be said:
Colorado's fragrance—like a rose.

Much like the weather, the National Collegiate Athletic Association is noted for unpredictability.
Another clear demonstration was presented last week when the NCAA merely slapped Colorado on the po-po, despite an admitted list of violations that adds up to one of the most colossal cases of rule-breaking in history.

Check, if you will, the NCAA Council resolution which listed these findings: (1) CU coaches offered and paid illegal financial assistance to 21 players; (2) coaches provided free transportation to athletes; (3) grant-in-aid assistance was reduced or ended for 3 players; (4) free medical aid was given for one player and another player's wife; (5) a recruiting slush-fund was operated from 1959-61; (6) prospective players were offered free transportation from campus to summer job sites; (7) partial payment of expenses was provided a parent who accompanied a prospective player to CU; (8) the football team practiced regularly in excess of the 20-day spring session allowed.

With this evidence uncontested, the NCAA issued a verdict of 2 years probation for football only; no bowl games and no TV.

In other words, only football was punished. The institution itself, and the entire athletic program got off scot free. Even the penalty isn't serious, since the Buffs might not be a bowl contender or a TV performer.

Why this whitewash? Well, the NCAA admittedly was impressed by Colorado's sudden repentance, demonstrated by the firing of Sonny Grandelius.

In effect, the NCAA gives institutions carte blanche to run slushbox organizations—as long as they fire the coach when they're caught.

It strikes me that the University of Colorado was responsible for the actions of its employees. We are also left with the question: if the NCAA had not probed CU, would not Grandelius still be the coach?

Colorado obviously tried to clean its skirts by firing Grandelius—a commendable move in the right direction, perhaps—but this should not absolve CU of responsibility, nor entitle it to leniency because it turned states evidence and copped a plea.

Not So Lucky

Look at some of the other NCAA actions, which resulted in much more severe punishment for much less widespread rule violations:

—Oklahoma was placed on indefinite suspension for a slush fund, operated years before.

—Kentucky was forced out of basketball competition for a year for illegal recruiting.

—All of Indiana sports are still on NCAA probation—not permitted to compete in NCAA events—because of a football violation.

—Kansas was placed on probation for one year because just one boy was taken on a trip by an alumnus. It can be assumed from this latest NCAA action that Oklahoma, Kentucky, Indiana and Kansas all could have received a letter of reprimand—like Missouri—if the respective schools had fired Bud Wilkinson, Adolph Rupp, Phil Dickens and Jack Mitchell.

Big 8 Next

Now that the NCAA has graciously dealt with Colorado it will be interesting to see if the Big 8 faculty representatives are equally sympathetic.

The Council indictment reports 21 players received illegal financial assistance. In view of the Big 8 action taken against Kansas' Bert Coan, it would follow that 21 Buff players will be declared ineligible for a specified time. Also, the precedent set in the KU case, indicates Colorado will be stripped of its 1961 victories and Big 8 title.

But I've long since given up trying to fathom the reasoning of the people who skipper intercollegiate athletics.

Maybe they'll all get where they're going at the same time, but I'm amazed at the various routes used—and the way they keep us all guessing.

In the meantime, hats off to Colorado for pulling one of the slickest escape tricks since Houdini toured the circuit.

BETTER DISC TOSSERS,
JUMPER IN SPOTLIGHT

... HIGHLIGHT PREP FIELD ACTIVITY

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

Three more 150-foot discus throwers and a new state leader in broad jumper Jerry Stuckert of Bushnell highlighted last week's activity in Nebraska high school field events.

Stuckert, Class D performer, leaped 22-feet, 1/4-inch to push Hastings' Dick Woolsey into the No. 2 spot in the jump standings.

The 8-man football star is the year's first 22-foot leaper. Stuckert had not appeared in the chart previously.

New discus successes were Bob Thomas of North Platte, Wayne Weber of Hastings, and Roy Windhorst of Deshler. They trail the big 3 of Jim Beltzer of Grand Island, Lynn Hasselbalch of St. Edward, and Art Ferguson of Kearney and have another 150-foot buddy in Bellevue's Woody Dismuke.

SIR GAYLORD
DERBY CHOICE

San Diego, Calif. (P) — Sir Gaylord was rated a 7-5 favorite to win the Kentucky Derby in the Agua Caliente race track future book listings.

Ridan was second choice at 2-1, followed by Sir Ribot at 4-1.

Others:
Donut King and Sunrise County, 6-1; Admiral's Voyage and Crimson Satan, 8-1; Decidedly, 10-1; Royal Attack, 12-1, and Doc Joyco, 16-1.

At 20-1: Cyranos, Aeropolis, Roman Line, Black Beard and Mr. Pitt.

Beltzer, handed his initial loss in competition at Kearney last week, saw a comfortable lead in the discus chart whittled by a 163-11 flip by Hasselbalch. Beltzer's best of the year is 165-9.

Ferguson came up with a 155-11 to win at Kearney with Thomas' 154-8 gaining second in front of Beltzer's best of 154-0.

Weber gained a 152-6 1/2 in the Mid-East meet and Windhorst, the Gold Medal discus man at last year's state meet, slipped in with a 151-9 1/2.

Hasselbalch's throw earned him the No. 5 spot on the all-time list. Beltzer is No. 3 and both have their sights set on the 174-2 1/2 best ever and 163-2 3/4 state record, both by Lincoln High's Howard Debus in 1940.

Beltzer hit 59 feet again with the shot last week but was 5 inches short of his best of 59-8 3/4. The top ten in the

Get Home Runs

... BUCS BEATEN, 4-1

San Francisco (P) — San Francisco vaulted past Pittsburgh 4 to 1 Monday into first place in the National League.

Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda hit home runs and rookie right-hander Gaylord Perry won his second straight start over the Pirates.

Perry, knocked out in the 6th while beating the Pirates last Wednesday, kept them hitting on the ground this time. He scattered 4 hits and walked only two while running his record to 2-0 with his first complete game.

The rookie retired the last 14 batters to face him.

The Giants, who had trailed by 28 percentage points, moved a full game ahead of the Pirates with 3 to play in the current series.

Mays greeted starter and loser Wilmer Mizell with a solo homer in the first inning, his 7th of the year.

Cepeda finished Mizell in the 4th with his 6th home run. Mays, who walked to open the inning, scored on the blast to right center.

Mizell, now 1-2, was lifted for a pinch hitter in the next inning.

Pittsburgh tied the game 1-1 in the second. Don Hoak singled off Chuck Hiller's glove, stole second and scored on Bill Mazeroski's single to center.

But the Giants went ahead for keeps in the 3rd. Tom Haller walked, moved up on Perry's sacrifice and scored on Mickey Mota's single over shortstop. Perry, a 23-year-

Phils, 6-4

Philadelphia (P) — The Philadelphia Phillies beat Warren Spahn for the first time since 1959 as they scored 5 runs in the third inning Monday night for a 6-4 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

The Phils had to beat down a 9th inning uprising to preserve the victory.

Spahn, who had been trying to win his 312th game of his career, suffered his 3rd loss of the season against two victories. Jack Hamilton won his second against two losses.

It was the first time the Phillies have beaten the 41-year-old Spahn since May 23 of 1959. During this period Spahn rolled up 11 consecutive victories over the Phils.

Spahn came to grief in the third when the Phillies scored 5 runs as he walked 3 batters, including Don Demeter, with the bases loaded.

Hamilton, the Phillies rookie righthander from Morning Sun, Iowa, had control trouble too, and walked 8 batters before Jack Baldschun finished up in the 9th inning when the Braves scored twice.

Floyd To Face Liston
Or Never Fight Again

New York (P) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson said Monday he will fight Sonny Liston for the title or never fight again. He said Chicago was the likely site for the multi-million dollar fight.

The statement, from Patterson at his hide-away training camp at Highland Mills, N.Y., squelched reports that the fight may never come off that have circulated since the New York State Athletic Commission refused to give Liston a license.

Patterson said that Liston's home town of Philadelphia is out for the fight. "They'd do anything in that town," he said.

The champion said Chicago "figures to be the best place. It's a good fight town and can draw, but I'll wait to hear what the other cities have to offer before I make up my mind."

"However, one thing is sure. The fight must take place in September and Liston's the one I'll fight no matter where it's held."

"I'll never put the gloves on again until I fight Liston."

Patterson made the statements to columnist Milton Gross of the New York Post.

In Philadelphia, Liston's adviser, Jack Nilon, said he was happy to hear of Patterson's stand.

"Sonny will fight him anywhere. He is going into training Wednesday," Nilon said. He also insisted the contract for the fight is still valid.

Patterson's attorney, Julius November, had claimed that Liston's failure to get a license in New York, selected site of the fight, makes the contract invalid. He said it could be revived if Patterson wanted to.

"There will have to be a new contract," Patterson said. "But it can have the same terms in it as the other."

Under those terms, Patterson gets 45 per cent of the live gate and 55 per cent of the radio, motion picture and closed circuit television rights plus the right to name the time and place of a rematch if he loses. Liston gets 12 1/2 per cent of both, with a minimum guarantee of $200,000.

The fight could draw from $3 to $6 million, including the ancillary rights (TV, radio, movies, etc.).

The record gate for a fight, $2,658,000 paid by 104,943, was in Chicago in 1927 for the second Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney fight.

The Illinois commission has said that Liston would be welcome there.

Joseph Triner, chairman, shot had only one changed from last week when McCook's Mike Russell posted a 52-9 1/2.

Grand Island also landed the bottom two rungs in the discus ladder as Bill Marshall and John Sanders, the latter a sophomore, performed in mid-148.

New faces in the other field events were scarce. Mullen's Dale McIntosh registered a 11-11 pole vault to slip into 6th as Gering's Howard Durr held the top at 12-8 1/2.

The high jump field, definitely down in talent, got just its 6th six-foot man in Elsie's Dennis Colton who made 6-0 1/4.

North Platte freshman Dale Chase also appears in this event for the first time at 5-11 1/2.

Jack Larson of Creighton Prep (21-6 1/2) and Dennis Dau of Elkhorn (21-6) are other newcomers in the broad jump this week besides Stuckert.

chance of beating me, I'd rather lose to him than keep the title and hide."

Patterson said he hopes to announce the date and site in a week or two.

The New York commission ruled that it was possible that Liston's past associations with police figures still continue. It also cited Liston's record of 19 arrests and two convictions in denying him a license.

Patterson told Gross he has been under pressure not to fight Liston, because of his record.

"But it's become a matter of principle for me to fight him. I've got to fight him," he said.

Dodgers Hand Cubs 6th
Straight Loss By 3-1

... WILLIAMS TOSSES 5-HITTER

Los Angeles (P) — The Los Angeles Dodgers dealt the Chicago Cubs their 6th straight loss Monday night as big Stan Williams went all the way for a 3-1 victory on a 5-hit pitching performance.

Trailing 1-0, the Dodgers came up with two runs in the 5th inning and Andy Carey added an insurance run on his second homer of the season in the 6th.

Chicago, which had gone scoreless for 23 innings, finally got a run in the 4th, thanks to errors by Williams and Wally Moon and a double steal that scored George Altman. The run was unearned.

Starter Dick Ellsworth did a creditable job for the Cubs in the 6 innings he worked. He allowed 6 hits and the 3 runs, all earned, but was hurt by a throwing error by Andre Rodgers which let in Norm Sherry with the first Dodger run in the 5th. Maury Willis went on to second on the wild throw and scored on a Jim Gilliam's single to center.

Sherry's run was the first for the Dodgers in 21 innings. Wally Moon doubled his first time at bat in the first, which was the first extra base hit in 5 games for the Dodgers.

College Official Blasts Probation

Las Cruces, N.M. (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association's 3-year probation of New Mexico State University drew a sharp slap Monday from the school's president, Dr. Robert B. Corbett.

Corbett's statement came after the NCAA's council Friday refused to take any action on a 3-year probation given New Mexico State in January.

"NCAA officials are not qualified by either training or experience in admissions matters," Corbett's statement said. "These are academic matters which are within the purview of accrediting agencies, not athletic agencies."

"The NCAA's lack of experience in admissions matters was clearly shown in the report of the infractions committee to the council in New Mexico State University's case. This report contained at least 18 errors of a substantive nature. They included errors in grade point computation, errors in catalogue interpretations and incorrect information on students' previous records."

"In NCAA hearings, the burden of proof is placed on the accused. This is contrary to court procedure where the prosecution must prove guilt beyond a reasonable doubt."

The probation was meted out for improper admissions administration which permitted 7 students to compete for the school even though they were not properly enrolled, offers of improper financial assistance toward student athletes and attempting to improperly recruit two track men at junior colleges.

"The NCAA acknowledged that one of the 7 students involved in this case should never have been included. New Mexico State University wishes to make it clear that all except one of the students were admitted entirely in accordance with university rules governing admissions."

"Much has been made of the fact that another institu-

INDIANS ROMP IN EXHIBITION

Cincinnati (AP) — Cleveland's Indians jumped on reliever Bob Miller for 4 runs in the 8th inning Monday night and nailed down an 8-6 exhibition victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

The Indians blew an early 3-run lead, but squelched Cincinnati scoring after the 4th inning.

Ron Taylor took the victory after collaborating with Jim Perry on 5 innings of tight relief work.

Home runs by Vada Pinson in the first inning and Hank Foiles in the 4th were the Reds' big blows.

Williamson, Aides Top Pro-Am Meet

Omaha (AP)—Lincoln pro Bud Williamson was the top member of the two leading teams and another of his units tied for 3rd in a pro-amateur golf event Monday.

Williamson had the day's low score of 68 and teamed with Lincolnites Gary Gruene-meier, 75; Matt Taber, 77, and Buddy Williamson, 78, to win the event with a best ball of 62.

Second were Williamson and Bob Lau, Ralph Ludwick and Tom Ludwick, best ball 63.

Low amateur was Gen. K. K. Compton of SAC with a par 71.

5-4 VICTORY CINCHES TIE FOR LHS NINE

After playing errorless ball for 7 innings, Southeast booted two in the 8th to hand Lincoln High a 5-4 extra-inning win.

A throwing error and a dropped fly ball enabled Schwabauer to score in the top of the 8th for the winning run.

Bob Hergenrader, who came in to relieve Gary Schaefer in the 4th, wasn't taking any chances, striking out Harry Leth, Dana Cole and Mike Jennings in order in the bottom of the 8th.

Rod Blood sparked in right field for the Links and his throwing arm proved a thorn in Southeast's side throughout the game.

The win cinches a tie for the city championship for the Links. Their next game is with the only other hopeful, Northeast. The Links are 3-0 and Northeast 1-1 in city competition.

Uelses Sees 17-0 Vault Right Away

... OTHERS NOT SO SURE

Norfolk, Va. (AP) — The 17-foot pole vault is just around the corner, says John Uelses. The world's first 16-foot vaulter thinks he's the man to do it.

The 17-foot pole vault is a long way off, says Mel Schwarzwald. The man mostly likely to reach it is Dave Tork.

Uelses thrilled a crowd of 6,500 here Saturday by clearing 15 feet, 6 1/2 inches in a special exhibition during the 9th annual pilot relays. He made 3 futile tries to better his 16 feet, 3/4 inch record. Schwarzwald bowed out at 15 feet.

Later in his dressing room Schwarzwald was discussing the possibility of another vaulter joining Uelses in the exclusive 16-foot circle.

His words gained significance when a few hours later it was learned this same fellow Marine, Tork, was establishing an official world record of 16 feet, 2 inches in the Mount San Antonio Relays at Walnut, Calif.

"Dave is working on his grip and John is concentrating more on height right now," explained Schwarzwald, a former teammate of both at Quantico and now stationed at Camp Lejeune.

"John holds the pole at 13-4 or 13-5 and gets about a three-foot push. Dave is holding at 14-9."

"The box is 7 or 8 inches deep. So that means when aging a loser, was astounded.

"I never got anything like that when I won a world series," he said. He won 7 with the Yankees.

There appears to be no logical explanation for the Mets fans. If they were around in the days when the Giants inhabited the Polo Grounds they managed successfully to hide their ardor from Horace Stoneham.

It can not be that they are baseball starved, since the Yankees have gone right on winning the American League pennant on a time table as rigid as the Pacific moon.

And the Yankees bring the National League winner in almost every fall for mangling. It can not be that these are people only just discovering baseball, because they are clearly knowledgeable. They know the names and (shudder) records of every obscure member of the cast, many of whom look bad even in this company.

It could be that they love a loser, and if the Mets ever start winning, admittedly an unlikely prospect, they will lose all this. The New York Daily News calls the fans the "new breed."

A head shrinker may have an explanation. At any rate, as long as it lasts, you can still expect to hear a roar of anticipation at the Polo Grounds when Kanehl pinch hits for MacKenzie.

When they finally won one, the loyal group stayed to cheer ancient old Casey Stengel throughout the long walk to the center field clubhouse. Stengel, no stranger to management, was astounded. This is supposed to be a town where they love a winner, when they love at all, and hand a loser his head. But then came the New York Mets.

This rag-tag collection of aints' and won't be's brought the National League colors back to town 3 weeks ago. They moved back into a broken-down old ball park a fun-go hit from majestic Yankee Stadium and settled down to a record-tying losing streak for a starter.

The pitchers were pitiful, the hitters were hopeless, the fielders were faulty. Even the weather was against them, it seemed. Spring flitted in and out of town, oddly coinciding with Yankee home dates, leaving wintry blasts, rain and wind storms that would drive a Bedouin to cover, for the Mets.

This seemed a perfect combination for consignment to big town oblivion, but it didn't work that way.

The Mets are the talk of the town. Bar flies love 'em. New York cab drivers, whose philosophic pronouncements are overrated but not their general tendency to babble, babble about 'em. Sports writers fill columns with their doings.

"What are the Mets doing?" has become the town topic. At the Polo Grounds fans die with 'em, which is often. They cheer every foul ball. A base on balls is the signal for pandemonium. Every called strike thrown by a Mets pitcher is greeted with an ovation.

Buhl To Chicago For Jack Curtis

Milwaukee (AP) —The Milwaukee Braves sent veteran right-hander Bob Buhl to the Chicago Cubs for southpaw Jack Curtis in a straight player deal.

Buhl, who is 33, won 109 games and lost 71 in 9 full seasons with the Braves. He was a member of the team's "Big Three" with Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette until his record dropped to 9-10 last year.

Buhl told newsmen in spring training he wanted to be traded and reiterated the statement to one writer as recently as last week. It was obviously he and Birdie Tebbets, who succeeded Charlie Dressen as manager last September, did not see eye-to-eye.

This season he has appeared in only one game, losing a start against San Francisco. Curtis, who is 25, had a 10-13 record and an earned run average of 4.90 in his rookie season with the Cubs last season. He has lost his only two decisions this year.

Falls City Ace Second In Shoot

Kansas City (AP) —James R. Boulware, Mexico, Mo., won the Class A event Sunday at the 55th interstate trap-shoot tournament.

He tied Steve Vogli of Kansas City at 99 in the 16-yard event and was forced into a double shootout before taking the title.

Van Swearingen, Shelby, Mo., took the Class B honors, also after a shootout. He and John Morehead, Falls City, Neb., tied at 98, but Swearingen went straight in the shootout to Morehead's 23.

Robert Artlip, Elliott, Iowa, won Class D honors in a shootout with Terry Wilson of Joplin.

Nebraska's baseballers will be trying to regain the .500 mark in Big 8 play and regain a position in the first division of the conference standings this weekend.

But Coach Tony Sharpe's crew faces a tough club in trying to achieve this task. The Huskers will take on defending Big 8 champion Oklahoma State in a double-header Friday at Stillwater, with a single game slated for Saturday.

LeMars, Ia. — Midland swept a double header from Westmar here Monday on a 13-11 slugfest and a 3-0 2-hitter by Bill Bokelman.

The two wins puts Midland at the top of the Tri-State Conference with a 4-0 record. Bob Frieze and Jim Perry were the big guns for the Warriors in the first game as Frieze picked up 4 for 6 hits and Perry had 5 runs-batted-in.

the first division with 3 losses to Missouri the past weekend as the Tigers pulled into a tie for first place with Kansas.

Nebraska's opponent this weekend trails the leaders by 1½ games in the won-lost column and will be trying to enhance their record at the hands of the Cornhuskers. The Cowboys were rained out of a 3-game series with Kansas State last Friday and Saturday.

Nebraska, with a 4-7 Big Eight record, trails 5th place Colorado by only one-half game, while 4th place Oklahoma is only 1½ games ahead of the Huskers.

Coach Sharpe plans to start Ernie Bonistall and Ron Havekost in Friday's games, with sophomore George Landgren drawing the nod for Saturday's 9-inning contest.

Bonistall is the top winner with a 3-2 mark and a 2.84 ERA. Havekost and Bonistall have been the workhorses of the Husker staff, having pitched 361-3 and 312-3 innings respectively.

Havekost has a 2-3 record with a 2.79 ERA. The Hooper lefthander was the victim of a fielding error in the second game of Saturday's double-header as Missouri won, 1-0, in one extra inning. Havekost went the route without allowing an earned run.

Landgren earned his starting shot with some top relief work against Concordia of Minnesota and Missouri the past week. The Grand Island sophomore allowed only one earned run in 5 innings of work against Concordia and came back against Missouri to hold the booming Tiger bats to 3 hits and one earned run in 4 innings.

Landgren leads the Husker mound corps in ERA with a 1.80 mark. He has yet to record a decision.

Sharpe said he plans to start the following batting order against Oklahoma State:

Don Schindel (.239) cf; Dale Anderson (.277) 3b; Steve Smith (.453) rf; Dick Becher (.286) 1b; Pat Salerno (.280) lf; Don Purcell (.193) c; Tom Ernst (.240) ss; Bill Redmond (.192).

Smith's .453 average leads the Husker hitters as the Lexington native is the only regular hitting better than .300.

Contact Lenses May Help Sight

—Now it comes out. Don Purcell, Cornhusker catcher, has been having all sorts of trouble getting base hits and also handling pitches behind the plate.

Coach Tony Sharpe couldn't figure what had happened. But a call from Don's dad cleared it up. Purcell had lost the contact lens for his left eye, which is his bad one, and was wearing two contacts, both of which had been fitted for his right eye.

Letter Of Intent Brings NCAA Ban

Any high school or college athlete who signs a "letter of intent" under professional baseball's new college scholarship plan will render himself "permanently ineligible" for all intercollegiate competition at member institutions of the NCAA, Walter Byers, executive secretary, has notified athletic director Tippy Dye of the University of Nebraska.

"The fact that a young man signs this prior to his enrollment in college does not affect the ineligibility provisions," Byers said.

Professional baseball's plan includes a maximum payment of $8,000 to an athlete with not more than $1000 to be paid in any one semester. All of the money would be paid to the college which the athlete attends.

Information is available at the University of Nebraska athletic department, Dye said.

NE, Cowboys Tie

Lincoln Northeast scored 3 runs in the bottom of the 7th inning Monday and ended in a 3-3 tie with Boys Town as darkness and coldness made play dangerous.

With Mike McGill and Mickey Stoehr on base with walks, the Cowboy catcher dropped a 3rd strike that scored McGill. Stan Grell went on to hit a 2-run triple to tie the game.

Colorado-Nebraska Dual Should Go Down To Wire

... RELAY WINNERS MAY DECIDE MEET

The 4th meeting here Saturday of the Colorado and Nebraska track teams this season promises a "down-to-the-relay" situation.

The Buffs and Cornhuskers split in two indoor duals and Nebraska won a 3-way outdoor meet with Colorado and the Air Force Academy.

The margin of Nebraska's win in the latter event was only two points.

The 17 points which Air Force scored helped the Cornhuskers more than they did Colorado. And that's what has Coach Frank Sevine worried.

The Saturday dual will start at 2 p.m. with the field events. The flat races will get underway at 2:30.

The Huskers won the triangular meet by taking second place in the relay which netted 3 points. However, in a dual meet the second place quartet gets no points.

However, the 440-yard relay could offset this loss as this event was not contested in the triangular.

Both Colorado and Nebraska sprint relay teams have been timed in :41.4, the Huskers running at Drake and Colorado in its own relay meet last Saturday.

This should provide one of several spectacular races here Saturday.

Another great race should develop in the mile which Ray Stevens won at Colorado Springs in 4:20.6.

However, Bob Griffith of Colorado has had a 4:12 clocking at this distance. Griffith won the 2-mile run in the Colorado-Nebraska indoor dual here this winter in 9:21.6.

Ray Knaub, 100-yard champion at the Texas and Kansas Relays, will be locking horns with Teddy Woods, Colorado's Olympic runner, in the 220-yard dash.

The half mile should provide another great race when Chuck Buechert of Colorado goes against Stevens, Mike Fleming and Gil Gebb. Bill Kenny, who won this event at Colorado Springs in 1:55.9 also may be in Cornhusker colors for this one.

When Nebraska thumped Colorado 88-33 here indoors some of the key Buffs were laid low with injuries. Don Meyers, who did 15 feet against Wisconsin in a dual last week to help defeat the Big Ten champions 62-29, also is one of the Big 8's top broad jumpers. He was unable to compete here. Jim Heath, one of the better middle distance runners, also was on the shelf.

"This shapes up as one of the best dual meets we have had here in many seasons," Coach Sevine said.

Alliance Picked For 1963 Men's Golf Meet

Omaha (AP)—The Nebraska Professional Golfers Association Monday decided on Alliance as the site of the 1963 Nebraska Men's State golf tournament.

The Alliance Country Club will set the dates.

It will be the first men's tourney to be held west of Kearney. Alliance was host to the women's tourney in 1960.

The 1962 men's tourney will be at the Highland Country Club in Omaha.

Roseboro Gets Only A Shiner

Los Angeles, (AP)—Except for a shiner, doctors say Dodger catcher John Roseboro will be none the worse for getting hit in the eye with a baseball in a freak home plate accident.

A foul-tipped ball broke a bar in his mask during a game against Pittsburgh, crashed through and stuck amid other bars. The eye was struck a severe blow.

Roseboro spent the night in a hospital but was released this morning after x-rays showed neither head damage nor permanent damage to the right eye.

Budgeters Ask Full Analysis

... ON INSTITUTIONS

The Legislative Council Budget Committee Monday asked the Department of Institutions to submit to it a complete analysis of current and proposed programs and expenditures at each of the state institutions.

The report, due to be submitted by next Monday, is to cover the period from now until the end of this biennium, June 30, 1963.

Committee Chairman Richard Marvel of Hastings said the committee "would like to see exactly what they are doing and what they propose to do under the budgetary allocation under the budgetary allocation of 1961-63."

"This will give us a background for an analysis of the budgetary matters of this particular department."

Goes To Quigley
Marvel requested that the information be given to the Legislature's new fiscal analyst, John Quigley, who will study it and it will then be further discussed by the committee at its next meeting May 21.

At its Monday meeting, the committee also met with State Welfare Department Director Frank Woods to discuss that department's budget problems.

Marvel reported that Woods considers his major problem to be the $200,000 ceiling put on aid to the mentally disabled in 1959. Woods said this limitation probably will be reached in November.

Transition problems concerning transfer of the Children's Home at Lincoln from the old Board of Control to the Department of Welfare January 1 also were discussed.

The primary problem in this area concerns $19,000 in operating costs and $8,000 in building costs in unpaid bills when the home was transferred to the Welfare Department the first of this year.

Policy Set
On another matter, the committee established a policy under which Quigley will operate, dividing it into 4 general categories.

Under priority of studies, the committee established that Quigley should investigate first the Department of Institutions; then the Department of Welfare, with some emphasis on the Children's Home; next the Department of Education, including the 3 institutions under its control and a general analysis of the department, and then the higher education problems of the state.

The committee authorized Quigley to set up an office, equip it, hire a secretary and look into the possibility of hiring an assistant within his budgetary allocation of $35,000.

SEN. RICHARD MARVEL

Campbell Asks Martin's Stand On Top Issues

Columbus — Republican congressional candidate John Campbell Monday asked where GOP Rep. Dave Martin stands on major issues.

Martin, he noted, did not even reply to a League of Women Voters of Nebraska questionnaire.

Campbell is a candidate for nomination to the new Third District seat in the House.

"People are disappointed with the Third District campaign," Campbell told a Republican county chairman's conference.

"They don't know where the candidates stand. The candidates have been bland and non-committal."

Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney renewed his plea for a broadened tax base, terming the present property tax base "one-sided and unfair."

A number of other candidates appeared briefly before the workshop. Nearly 100 party leaders were on hand for the event.

Claim Interference

New Delhi (UPI) — The central council of the Communist Party accused the United States of interfering in the North Bombay parliamentary elections in January in a vain attempt to prevent the reelection of V. K. Krishna Menon. The communists supported Krishna Menon in the election.

Omaha Interstate Routing Okayed

The State Highway Advisory Commission Monday approved an Interstate Highway routing in Omaha between the 28th and Dodge interchange and the Missouri River crossing with only two minor changes.

Delayed for one month was a decision on proposed construction work on U.S. 634 at the eastern and western edges of McCook.

Noting there was some difference of opinion in McCook concerning "in town" portions of the project, the commission decided to withhold its decision until after a hearing with McCook city officials.

The commission laid over for one month a proposal concerning a stretch of U.S. 183 between Elm Creek and Miller.

No Rebuilding

State Engineer John Hossack said recently the road probably cannot be rebuilt without relocating most of the present road.

The present location of the Bruno spur on State Highway 215 was approved. Unanimous support for the present location was voiced at a recent hearing.

The commission also gave its approval to some relocation work on State Highway 2 between Anselmo and Merina.

On another matter, the commission declined to adopt a conflict of interest resolution suggested by the Federal Bureau of Roads on the grounds it is an advisory body and has no administrative powers, but members agreed in principle with the idea.

In a progress report to the commission, Hossack said the Highway Department has 14 jobs, covering 103 miles of highway improvements, where the services of consultants "might be helpful to us."

Hossack explained they could be helpful "provided they understood the work and had men available to get on the job and complete it promptly."

Gov. Frank Morrison recently directed the employment of consulting engineers to speed the lead time on highway construction.

Hossack said the 14 jobs represent about one-fourth of a normal year's work, and that employment of consultants in plan preparation "should give us a badly needed lift."

"As these jobs near completion, we will evaluate the quality of work turned in and arrange for further consulting services in the next two-year program," Hossack said, which should "help us toward our goal of one-year lead time."

Hossack also announced the employment, effective in June, of Lowell Fisk, who will serve as an administrative assistant.

Fisk, currently serving as a safety coordinator for the Iowa Highway Commission, will revise the Nebraska Highway Department's job descriptions, prepare a department manual, and assist in the recruitment of new employees, particularly those in the professional fields.

Hossack told of the growing problem of hiring and retaining engineers under the department's present salary scale for young engineers.

Both California and Washington and the federal space agency are recruiting engineers from Nebraska by offering college graduates $560 a month. The Highway Department's starting salary is $475 a month, or $495 with 6 months' experience.

Hossack added, however, that Nebraska's starting salaries are in line with those offered by surrounding states.

Lancaster Schools' Shares Of State Lands Fund Listed

Lancaster County's share of the 1962 state apportionment for school districts amounted to $357,678.35, according to Dr. Glenn Turner, superintendent of schools.

The funds are made available to districts in Lancaster County from sale or rental of school lands and the interest on investment of money from such sales and rentals and from fines and licenses.

According to Dr. Turner, one-fourth of the total amount is divided equally among each of the districts, while the remaining three-fourths is apportioned to each district according to the number of children in the district.

Each district will receive approximately $274.22 as its share of the one-fourth amount, while approximately $6.01 will be allowed per child in each district from the remainder.

The Lincoln District will get more than 86% of the total county amount, receiving $309,116.31.

WISHING WELL

By William J. Miller

There is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. # New, Full Length Adjustable Dress Forms

INCLUDES SKIRT FORM AND HEM GUIDE

1962 Universal
Dress Form
Complete . . .
Sizes 8 to 42

3.98

(2a) 1962 Model of the dress form used by 500,000 home sewers and praised by the Editors of VOGUE PATTERN BOOK, LOOK AND McCALL'S PATTERN BOOK.

Gains and Loses . . .

Completely adjustable: widen or take in diaphragm, raise and lower shoulders, adjust busts individually. Belt-fitter adjusts to duplicate your midriff. All measurements adjust to duplicate your own so that whatever fits the form fits you.

No Re-Sewing!

Because it is flexible, you can slip dresses on and off simply by bending in the shoulders. No ripping and re-sewing seams as with the costly rigid forms. You save hours of needless sewing and re-fitting.

1. A blouse form so light you can sew with it in your lap.
2. A skirt form with perforated hem guides that eliminate hem-markers.
3. When not in use, its nine sections fold flat and tuck away in a bureau drawer.
